You are invited to hear

The Honorable Edward D. Cowart
Chief Judge, 11th Judicial Circuit
Dade County, Florida

discuss

"The Impact of Television in the Courtroom"

Monday, September 24, 1979
Tukey Lecture Theatre
USCS
12:00 noon and 7:30 P.M.

Judge Cowart was the presiding judge at the trial of Theodore Bundy who was convicted of murder in the deaths of two Florida State University coeds. The trial received national attention because of the sensational nature of the crimes and because the entire proceedings were covered by television cameras in the courtroom.

Although not the first to be so reported, the Bundy trial provided a severe test of the influence of the presence of the camera. Judge Cowart's experience with the media and his firm control of the proceedings offer strong evidence to support the feasibility of such media coverage.

According to The Miami Herald, "The cameras in the courtroom were not a factor in the verdict. . . . But they were . . . a vital factor in the public's access to and understanding of the evolution of an actual criminal trial. This trial demonstrated that spectacular cases need not degenerate into courtroom spectacles."

Judge Coward has a wide range of experience in the legal-law enforcement-judicial process, including the Miami Police Department; Chief Trial Counsel and Director of Law Enforcement in the Florida Attorney General's Office; private law practice; Prosecutor and City Judge; and Circuit Court Judge.

PROMOTION AND TENURE COMMITTEE

MINUTES

The Promotion and Tenure Committee met in the Administrative Conference Room at 1:00 PM on 23 August 79. All members were present.

Chairperson James Brown announced that, because of his appointment to a half-time administrative position, he was no longer eligible to serve on the Committee and was submitting his resignation to be effective at the election of a successor. He further noted that Ron Young had resigned from the full-time faculty and would also need to be replaced (Brown holds an elected slot, and Young held an appointed slot on the Committee).

The Committee proceeded to elect Elizabeth Davidson chairperson and Lawrence Moore secretary.

The Committee took no further action. However, to help the new chairperson in planning, members noted informally a number of matters which they anticipated would come before the Committee during the course of the year. In addition to the preparation of recommendations on individual requests for promotion and tenure, these included the following:

1. A review of the action of the Columbia Campus Faculty extending the probationary period for tenure.

2. A resolution of the pending question of establishing rank for librarians and the generation of criteria for promotion to the various ranks if they are established.

3. A review of the policies instituted by the administration of promoting persons beyond assistant professor without simultaneously granting tenure and of promoting persons without providing traditional faculty-recommended increments in renumeration.

4. A consideration of promotion and tenure criteria to be proposed for the School of Nursing faculty.

5. A study of the timeliness and adequacy of the feedback being given to individual faculty members by their administrative superiors on matters relating to job performance, promotion, and tenure. (This matter was suggested after it was mentioned that a specific message from the administration was to be inferred by each faculty member from the percentage increment this year in his/her salary.)

It should be emphasized that no motions are before the Committee on the above matters except for item 2 which is an item of unfinished business from last year.

USCS FALL HAPPENING

Do you enjoy playing tennis, golf, or the fellowship of a wine and cheese party? If so, then USCS's alumni association and the athletic department have combined their efforts to provide the opportunity for you to participate in one or all of the above.

The events are open to USCS's alumni, friends, employees, and students. The basic purpose is for fun, competition, and fellowship; however, if there is a profit it will be used to provide athletic scholarships. Since no university funds will be used for these projects, we need your response by Monday, October 8 so that we will have the funds to finance the activities and so that we will know how many participants to plan for.

The activities have been planned to avoid as many natural conflicts as possible, and we hope that we have included at least one event which you will enjoy participating in with our extended USCS family. So, look at your calendar and make your plans to join us in this USCS FALL HAPPENING.

Speaking in relation to the topic Theobald says, "I am convinced that it is necessary to move from a society based on force and competition to one based upon process and cooperation. I have tried to build my activities on this belief and thus to facilitate the present transition from the industrial era to the communications era. The immediately coming years will determine whether we are successful in moving toward the more human and humane society we so urgently need." Faculty, staff, and students are heartily encouraged to attend; faculty teaching courses which relate directly or indirectly to Theobald's work should be especially interested in having their students attend. On Thursday morning Mr. Theobald will be available for presentations before individual classes or groups of classes. HERMENIA T. GARDNER was a presenter in a workshop entitled Integrating Health Service and Social Services at the South Carolina Commission On Aging's Fourth Annual State Network Conference, Oct. 9, at the Carolina Inn in Columbia. Hermenia presented the Cross-generational Interdisciplinary Model for Long Term Community Care she directed at Columbia University.

BRYAN LINDSAY has a rather active September, conducting special classes in Future Studies for groups of gifted and talented students at Dorman High School and Wade Hampton High School, in Greenville. Bryan also appeared on a special segment of the WSPA week-end show, "Here and Now," where he discussed various aspects of education of gifted and talented learners. That show aired the week-end of Oct. 6-7. Bryan is scheduled to tape another similar program later this month; broadcast dates for that show have not been announced.

ED WHITE, School of Education, conducted two workshops at the 4th Annual South Carolina Science Council Conference at Columbia College on Oct. 5 and 6. The first session "Batteries and Bulbs" was for Elementary teachers. In a session for middle school teachers, he demonstrated the use of the Human Science Program recently developed under grants from the National Science Foundation by the Biological Science Curriculum Study Group.

DR. JEANNE STUART, biology, has been asked by the National Science Foundation to review grant proposals for the Local Course Improvement for Undergraduate Science Education (LOCI) Program.

The Chancellor has directed that as of Monday, October 15, the following procedures are in effect for the Word Processing Center:

1. Each department or school now has a monthly typing, printing and duplicating budget allocation for the Word Processing Center. Charges for various jobs and individual department procedures may be obtained from the appropriate budget officer.
2. Twice daily pickup and delivery service will be provided at the Science and Math office; the School of Humanities and Science Office; the School of Education Office; and the School of Nursing Office.
3. The door to the printing and duplicating center is now to be locked at all times, and access will be limited to staff. Provided a proper requisition is filled out, faculty and staff may still give any needed instructions to the typists.
4. The following priority system is in effect.

   Priority I: classroom related academic work and official faculty business

   Priority II: Official USCS materials intended for external use

   Priority III: Internal reports or other documents

   Priority IV: Personal typing such as journal articles or reports and public service projects.

Full information, including a copy of the complete memo which gives an explanation of procedures and the reasons for the changes to the new system is available in each division or departmental office. The Director for Information Services will be happy to discuss the changes with faculty or staff and hopes to incorporate this feedback into a new Word Processing Policies and Procedures Manual, which will be published in January.

In August 1978, the South Carolina Attorney General's Office issued an opinion that "a faculty member of a state college or university may grieve to the State Employee Grievance Committee once he has completed six months of satisfactory service or after an official extension of not to exceed three months and he is appraised satisfactorily." This opinion will obviously have a drastic impact on the entire tenure system as it now exists on this campus and other campuses in South Carolina. The state House of Representatives last fall passed a bill specifically exempting teaching faculty at state institutions from the grievance procedures, but the State Senate refused to act. Because the provisions of the bill, the attorney general's opinion, and the existing law are so important to all faculty at USCS, a copy is attached to this week's FYI. Faculty are urged to study this information carefully.

FROM: Jack S. Mullins Jack S. Mullins

DATE: September 4, 1979

SUBJECT: Faculty Grievances

You are aware of the legislation panding before the General Assembly to remove faculty members from the State grievance process. Although this bill will undoubtedly pass next session, we must process grievances in the interim in accordance with opinions issued by tha Office of the Attorney General.

Actual grievances involving tenure or othar faculty-related issues have resulted in our requesting two opinions. An opinion issued on August 8, 1978, by Mr. Frank DuRant, Assistant Attorney General, stated that faculty members have grievance rights. Ms. Barbara Hamilton's opinion of August 6, 1979, expanded on the original opinion to state specifically that the State Performance Appraisal Policy applies to faculty members, that the tenure system and faculty handbooks do not take precedence over State policy, and that the same procedure should apply in non-renewal of contracts as in other cases of termination.

These opinions are very important and have far-reaching potential impact. Therefore, we suggest that each institution review these opinions very carefully and comply fully with State policy in order not to lose grievances because of procedural technicalities. We suggest also that these opinions be given wide distribution to assure that all administrators and supervisors are aware of their responsibilities and to assure that faculty members are aware of their grievance rights.

Please contact me or our Employee Relations staff if you have any questions or if we can be of assistance.

OPINION NO._____ August 6, 1979

SUBJECT: Employees, Public, Employment Relations

SYLLABUS:

1. The State Performance Appraisal Policy applies to faculty of state colleges and universities.

2. The tenure system and faculty handbook rules do not take precedence to the State Performance Appraisal Policy.

3. The State Employee Grievance Committee and the South Carolina Budget and Control Board have the authority to order the reinstatement of terminated employees.

4. The same criteria should apply in non-renewal of contracts as in other cases of termination if the employee concerned is a permanent state employee.

TO: Dr. Jack S. Mullins, Director
State Personnel Division

FROM: Barbara J. Hamilton
State Attorney

QUESTIONS:

1. Does the State Performance Appraisal Policy apply to faculty of the state colleges and universities?

2. Does the tenure system or faculty handbooks take precedence to the State Performance Appraisal Policy?

3. Does the State Employee Grievance Committee and the Budget and Control Board have the authority to instruct an institution of higher learning to renew a contract or to reinstate a terminated employee?

4. Should the same criteria apply in non-renewal of contracts as in other cases of termination?

part:

> A. Each agency head shall be responsible for the establishment of written procedures and evaluation devices for appraising the performance of all employees on an impartial basis. Individual agency procedures shall be established in accordance with the provisions of this policy ...
> B. Each employee's performance shall be appraised on a periodic basis in accordance with Section 4.03 of this policy.
> D. Employee performance appraisals shall be used for, but not limited to the following:
> 1. To evaulate the employee objectively and to inform the employee of strong and weak points, as well as training needs and expected improvements ... .
> F. Unclassified employees, including faculty of the institutes of higher education shall have their performance appraised at least annually. (Emphasis added).

Thus, state law gives the Budget and Control Board broad latitude in matters concerning state employees and the Board may delegate the performance of certain responsibilities to state agency heads. The Board has delegated the responsibility of making personnel rules and procedures to state agency heads but the rules and procedures must be compatible with state personnel policy (See State Personnel Manual Section 4.02A). Consequently, if a state agency has created a procedure whereby an employee's performance is evaluated and the employee is not informed of the results of the evaulation i.e., his or her "strong and weak points, as well as training needs and expected improvements" such a procedure is incompatible with state policy and should be revised.

STATUTES

1976 South Carolina Code of Laws Sections 8-11-230, 8-11-260, 8-11-270(2) and 8-17-10 et seq., State Employee Grievance Procedure Act. State Personnel Manual Section 4.02 and 4.03.

DISCUSSION

I

The State Performance Appraisal Policy applies to faculty of colleges and universities. Academic personnel are exempted from the state classification and compensation plan in 1976 South Carolina Code of Laws, Section 8-11-270(2) but are not exempted from the coverage of the state plan for administration of personnel matters in, 1976 South Carolina Code of Laws, 8-11-260. Section 8-11-230, 1976 South Carolina Code of Laws provides that:

> The Budget and Control Board is authorized and directed to: ... 6. After coordination with agencies served, develop policies and programs concerning leave with or without pay, hours of work, fringe benefits (except State retirement benefits), employee/management relations, performance appraisals, grievance procedures, employee awards, dual employment, disciplinary action, separations, reductions in force and other conditions of employment as may be needed.
> 11. Delegate to the heads of the State agencies served such of the above responsibilities as may be appropriate in such form as the Board may determine. (Emphasis added).

Pursuant to the authority given by the General Assembly to the Budget and Control Board, the Board promulgated personnel rules and regulations which are encompassed in the State Personnel Manual. Section 4.02 of the State Personnel Manual provides in Inasmuch as faculty members of state colleges and universities are state employees, (See Attorney General's Opinion dated August 8, 1978, Re: Employees, Public, Labor Relations) they too, must be provided with an appraisal procedure which meets the requirements of state policy as stated in Section 4.02 and 4.03 of the State Employees' Manual.

II

Rules and regulations found in faculty handbooks of the various state colleges and universities are the primary source of rules for faculty members. These rules must encompass state personnel policy. Section 4.02A of the State Personnel Manual requires that the rules and regulations which are promulgated by a state agency must be "in accordance with" state personnel policy.

This conclusion is not entirely free from doubt. The state institutions of higher education operate under different statutes which touch upon faculty members' rights. Each institution will be considered in seriatim.

University of South Carolina-Under § 59-117-40(6) of the Code, U.S.C., a body corporate and politic, is authorized "to appoint or otherwise provide for the appointment of subordinate and assistant officers and agents, faculty members, instructors, and other employees prescribing the terms of their employments, their duties, and fixing their compensation."

Clemson University-Under § 59-119-50 of the Code, the Board of Trustees shall "elect the professors, and define their duties and fix their salaries and make all rules and regulations for the government of the university."

The Citadel-Under § 59-121-50 of the Code, the Board of Visitors of the Citadel "may appoint professors ... and may fix their salaries and the period for which they shall serve."

The Medical University of South Carolina-Under § 59-123-60 of the Code, the Board of Trustees of the Medical University "shall elect teachers of professorial rank in the various schools which make up The Medical University of South Carolina and such other officers and employees as may be necessary for the proper conduct of the university and fix their compensation ... ."

Winthrop College-Under § 59-125-90 of the Code, the Board of Trustees of Winthrop College "shall appoint ... professors of said institution ... [and] fix all salaries and wages of teachers and employees."

South Carolina State College-Under § 59-127-70 of the Code, the Board of Trustees may "select a proper corps of professors and instructors and fix their salaries."

Francis Marion College-Under § 59-105-10, of the Code,is governed by the State College Board of Trustees.*

College of Charleston-Under § 59-101-20(B) of the Code,is governed by the State College Board of Trustees.*

Lander College-Under § 59-101-30(3) of the Code, is governed by the State College Board of Trustees.*

Technical Education Colleges and Centers-Under § 59-53-20 of the Code, "All personnel employed in the institutions and programs within the jurisdiction and control of the Board are designated state employees whether paid in whole or in part by state

---

* The State College Board ofTrustees is a body corporate and politic and is authorized under § 59-105-40(5) of the Code, to appoint ... "faculty members, instructors and other employees prescribing the terms of their employments, their duties, and fixing their compensations." Section 59-105-40(15) of the Code states further that the Board shall have the power '[t]o remove any officer, faculty member, agent or employee for incompetence, neglect of duty, violation of college regulations,' or conduct unbecoming a person occupying such a position."

 State Board for Technical and Comprehensive Education.

> funds and shall be subject to the rules, regulations, guidelines and policies of the Board, the Budget and Control Board and the state personnel system."

III

While there is no statute which states what the exact remedies or resolutions of grievances the State Employee Grievance Committee and the Budget and Control Board may order, it can be inferred from the language used in Section 8-11-230 and 8-17-10 et seq., that the Committee and the Board have the authority to order whatever remedy is appropriate to resolve a grievance. Section 8-17-10, 1976 South Carolina Code of Laws, provides:

> The General Assembly finds that harmonious relations between public employers and public employees are a necessary and most important factor in the effective and efficient operation of government and that a proper forum for the understanding and resolution of employee grievances will contribute to the establishment and maintenance of harmony, good faith and the quality of public service. (Emphasis added).

Section 8-17-30 of the Code provides that the State Employee Grievance Committee was created so that a state employee may "secure acceptable adjudication" of his or her grievance if the employee remains dissatisfied with the final decision of a state agency head.

The Committee and the Board have the authority to order the reinstatement of a state employee whose employment by a state agency has been terminated. Section 8-17-20 of the Code provides that a dismissal is an appropriate subject matter of a grievance. Section 8-17-30 states that the Committee's decision concerning the resolution of a grievance shall be final unless rejected by the Board. If the Board rejects the Committee's decision it must make its own decision at its next regular meeting or within 10 days whichever occurs earlier. Section 8-17-30 of the Code expressly provides that the agency/respondent is bound by the Board's decision which the agency must promptly implement. Hence, the General Assembly envisioned the situation in which the Committee and the Board might render decisions contrary to the positions of State agencies and the Legislature has provided that the Board's decision takes precedence over the state agency's decision. Thus, if the respondent agency has decided to terminate a state employee's employment, the Committee and the Board may reverse the agency's decision if the Committee or the Board disapproves of either the agency's decision or the method whereby the employment decision was implemented.

IV

The same criteria should apply in non-renewal of contracts as in other cases of termination if the employee concerned is a permanent state employee. A faculty member of a state college or university becomes a permanent state employee once he or she has completed six months of satisfactory service or "after an official extension not to exceed three months for marginal performance has been given a satisfactory performance appraisal." Section 8-17-30, 1976 South Carolina Code of Laws, as amended.

Since non-renewal of a contract of a permenent state employee is tantamount to a dismissal the same criteria for dismissals of state employees should apply.

CONCLUSION:

The State Performance Appraisal Policy applies to faculty members of state institutions of higher education. Faculty members once becoming permanent state employees, have the right to be informed of their strong and weak points, and areas of expected improvement. If an institution of higher learning seeks to terminate the employment of a faculty member who is a permanent state employee, it must have good cause i.e., employee misbehavior, incompetency, neglect of duty, gross insubordination, reduction in force, etc., as the basis of the termination and it must comply with personnel procedures which includes documentation of deficiencies, warnings and progressive discipline.

OPINION NO._____ August 8, 1978

SUBJECT: Employees, Public, Labor Relations

SYLLABUS: A faculty member of a state college or university may grieve to the State Employee Grievance Committee once he has completed six months of satisfactory service, or after an official extension of not to exceed three months and he is appraised satisfactorily.

TO: Dr. Jack S. Mullins, Director
State Personnel Division

FROM: Frank H. DuRant
Assistant Attorney General

QUESTIONS:

1. May a non-tenured faculty member of a college or university grieve to the State Employee Grievance Committee?

2. Is a faculty member of a college or university a "permanent state employee" within the context of §8-17-30, Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976).

STATUTES AND CASES:

R-59-5, §§8-17-40, 59-117-40, 8-11-270, 8-11-210 et seq., Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976), as amended; §§0:01, 0:04 State Personnel Manual; Restatement of Agency 2d. §2201.

DISCUSSION:

The authority to determine jurisdiction in this matter is set forth in §8-17-40, Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976), as amended:

> The State Personnel Director shall assemble all records, reports and documentation of the earlier hearings on the grievance and review the case to ascertain that there has been full compliance with the established grievance policies, procedures and regulations within the agency or department involved and determine whether the action is grievable to the State Committee.

The rules and regulations of the State Employee Grievance Committee, R-59-5, Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976), as amended, states:

> Upon receipt of appeals of questionable jurisdiction, the State Personnel Director shall immediately request an opinion from the Attorney General.

In determining whether or not a person is an employee of a particular agency, one should look to such indicators as method of payment, provision of equipment, and right to control. See: Restatement of Agency 2d, §2201, "Definition of Servant".

The University of South Carolina is a state institution of higher learning governed by a Board of Trustees under §59-117-40, Code of Laws of South Carolina (1976). The salaries and operating expenses of the employees of the University are provided for in the general appropriation acts.

Academic personnel employed by the University are "state employees". As such, they are entitled to all the rights of other state employees, unless specifically excluded by statute. Academic personnel are exempted from the state classification and compensation plan under §8-11-270, but are not excluded from the general personnel administration plan under §8-11-210 et seq. Although many states do administer separate personnel plans for academic institutions, there is no separate personnel plan for such employees by law in South Carolina.

Act 471 of the 1978 Acts and Joint Resolutions, which amends §8-17-30 of the 1976 Code provides:

> "There is hereby created the State Employee Grievance Committee constituted and appointed as hereinafter provided. Permanent state employees who have completed six months of satisfactory service or who, after an official extension not to exceed three months for marginal performance are given a satisfactory performance appraisal shall have the right to appeal to the State Employee Grievance Committee any grievances involving those issues specified in Section 8-17-20 after all administrative remedies to secure acceptable adjudication within their own agency or department have been exhausted. If an employee does not receive an appraisal on the official appraisal date, he shall be considered to have performed in a satisfactory manner and to have grievance rights under this article."

A permanent employee is "a full or part time employee whose permanent retention has been approved at the completion of a probationary period". (Definition "Permanent employee", State Personnel Manual, §0:01). In contrast, a temporary employee is "one who is employed on a full time or part time basis for a period not exceeding six months to provide for specific, defined projects, for peak work loads, and for short time replacement of permanent employees on leave of absence. Temporary employees have no continuing status". §0:04, Manual, supra.

Since academic personnel at the state colleges and universities have traditionally been employed for a period in excess of six months, it is the opinion of this Office that such employees acquire rights under the Grievance Procedure Act after six months of satisfactory service, or after an official extension not to exceed three months for a marginal performance appraisal. If an employee is not appraised on his official appraisal date, he shall be considered to have performed in a satisfactory manner.

CONCLUSION:

Whether a faculty member of a college or university is or is not tenured does not determine his right to grieve to the State Employee Grievance Committee. If such employee has completed six months of satisfactory service, or after an official extension not to exceed three months is appraised satisfactory, he acquires the right to grieve to the State Employee Grievance Committee.

An Act To Amend Act 1025 Of 1974, Relating To State Grievance Procedures, So As To Provide That Alleged Discrimination Shall Be The Only Grounds On Which Classification And Promotion May Be Appealed, To Provide For Four Alternate Members For The State Employee Grievance Committee, And To Provide For Resolution Of A Grievance Before Forwarding It To The State Employee Grievance Committee.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina:

Employee grievance procedures to be established

SECTION 1. Section 2 of Act 1025 of 1974 is amended to read:

"Section 2. Each agency and department of state government shall establish an employee grievance procedure within such agency or department which shall be reduced to writing and be approved by the State Personnel Director. A copy of the approved grievance procedure plan shall be furnished and explained to each employee of the agency or department concerned. The plan shall provide that the department or agency shall act on a grievance within forty-five days. Failure to act positively within such period will be considered an adverse decision which the employee may appeal. No employee shall be disciplined or otherwise prejudiced in employment for exercising rights under the plan, and department and agency heads shall encourage the use of the plan in the resolution of grievances arising in the course of public employment. As used in this section, grievances may include, but are not necessarily limited to, dismissals, suspensions, involuntary transfers, layoffs, reductions in pay, and demotions. Compensation shall not be deemed a proper subject for consideration under the grievance procedure except as it applies to alleged inequities within a particular agency or department. Classification and promotion shall be deemed proper subjects for consideration only as they relate to alleged discrimination."

State Employee Grievance Committee created

SECTION 2. Section 3 of Act 1025 of 1974 is amended to read:

"Section 3. There is hereby created the State Employee Grievance Committee constituted and appointed as hereinafter provided. Permanent state employees who have completed six months of satisfactory service shall have the right to appeal to the State Employee Grievance Committee any grievances involving those issues specified in Section 2, after all administrative remedies to secure acceptable adjudication within their own agency or department have been exhausted. Appeals to the committee shall be initiated as provided for in Section 4. The State Employee Grievance Committee shall consist of seven members who shall be appointed by the State Budget and Control Board to serve for terms of three years. Appointments shall follow the overlapping schedule now in effect. In addition to the regular seven members, there shall also be appointed four alternate members to serve for three year terms. Any interim appointment to replace a member who resigns or otherwise ceases to be a member of the committee prior to the completion of the term shall be for the duration of the unexpired term. Any member may be reappointed for succeeding terms at the discretion of the State Budget and Control Board.

All members of the State Employee Grievance Committee shall be selected on a broadly representative basis from among the career service or appointed personnel of the several state agencies, with the provision that whenever a grievance comes before the committee initiated by or involving an employee of an agency of which a committee member also is an employee, such member shall be disqualified from participating in the hearing.

Committee members will receive their regular pay for the time they are required to be away from their regular assignments. They will be reimbursed for meals and lodging and, when using their personal automobiles for necessary committee business, they will be paid mileage as provided by law.

The committee shall select its own chairman from among its members. The chairman shall serve as the presiding officer at all hearings but may designate some other member to serve as presiding officer in his absence.

A quorum shall consist of at least five committee members, and no hearing may be held without a quorum.

The presiding officer will have control of the proceedings and will take whatever action is necessary to insure an equitable, orderly and expeditious hearing. Parties will abide by the presiding officer's decisions, except when a committee member objects to a decision to accept evidence, in which case the majority vote of the committee will govern.

The committee shall have the authority to issue subpoenas for files, records, and papers pertinent to any investigation; to determine the order of testimony and the appearance of witnesses; to call additional witnesses; to subpoena witnesses; to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act; and to secure the services of a recording secretary at its discretion.

The committee shall, within twenty days after hearing an appeal, make its findings and decisions and report such findings and decisions to the State Budget and Control Board. Unless the State Budget and Control Board takes action to reject a decision made by the committee within fifteen days, the decision of the State Employee Grievance Committee shall be transmitted by the State Budget and Control Board to the employee, the employing agency and the State Personnel Division and shall be final. If, however, the State Budget and Control Board rejects the decision of the committee, the board shall make its own decision without further hearing at its next regular meeting or within ten days, whichever comes first, and that decision shall be final with copies transmitted to the employee, the employing agency and the State Personnel Division. The agency-respondent in the appeal will be bound by the final decision and will take action immediately to implement its obligation under the decision."

Appeals to grievance committee

SECTION 3. Section 4 of Act 1025 of 1974 is amended to read:

"Section 4. A state employee who wishes to appeal the decision of the agency or departmental grievance procedure to the State Employee Grievance Committee shall file a request for such an appeal within ten days of receipt of the decision from the agency or department head. The request shall be filed directly with the State Personnel Director by the employee.

The State Personnel Director shall assemble all records, reports and documentation of the earlier hearings on the grievance and review the case to ascertain that there has been full compliance with the established grievance policies, procedures and regulations within the agency or department involved and determine whether the action is grievable to the State Committee. Before the grievance is forwarded to the committee, the State Personnel Director or his designee shall meet with both sides of the issue and try to resolve the grievance on a voluntary basis. If that is not possible, then the State Personnel Director shall forward to the chairman of the State Employee Grievance Committee those requests that are determined to be in order. Upon being advised by the chairman of the committee as to the date and time when the committee shall meet, the State Personnel Director shall notify all parties concerned of the date, time and place of the hearing and request their presence.

The State Personnel Division shall arrange for the reproduction of pertinent records and papers and distribute copies to the members of the committee prior to the date of the hearing. The State Personnel Director or designated alternate shall attend all hearings of the committee to render advice on or interpretation of applicable laws, policies and regulations. The State Personnel Director shall provide to the committee from the resources of the State Personnel Division such administrative and clerical services as may be required."

Exemptions

SECTION 4. Act 1025 of 1974 is amended by adding Section 4A which shall read:

"Section 4A. The provisions of this act shall not apply to:

1. Members, officers and employees of the General Assembly;

2. Executive assistants, administrative assistants and secretaries on the Governor's immediate staff;

Senate passed two motions about the proposed Cooperative Education Program:

1. The Senate of the University of South Carolina at Spartanburg expresses positive interest in the Cooperative Education program as written in the printed synopsis of Oct. 19, 1979.
2. The Faculty Secretary is to instruct the Academic Forward Planning Committee to consult with the Administration on the possibilities of compensation for faculty members involved with the Cooperative Education Program.

This is a summary of the discussion which precluded the above Senate action:

1. Academic Forward Planning had already given general approval of Cooperative Education Program as outlined in attached synopsis.

2. An estimated 35 students and 30 businessess and other concerns have expressed interest in program to date.

3. Placement of students will require faculty participation as supervisors.

4. Renewal of funding for program is contingent upon faculty suport and involvement.

5. As presently conceived, the plan does not provide for faculty monetary payment or released time.

6. Meaningful faculty involvement, according to one view, would require considerable interfacing with employers. Another position was that much of the contact work could be handled by the director.

7. It is not clear what impact implementation might have on the USCS budget.

8. Interested parties should direct comments and questions to the next Academic Forward Planning meeting.

IV. Unfinished Business

The following motions were adopted by the Senate:

1. The Senate requests that Dr. Sansbury postpone the presentation of the Senate-approved preliminary grievance procedure from Spring 1979, until after the open faculty meeting of October 31, 1979. (see the Omsbudmen Plan.)

2 The Forum on Grievance Procedures and State Law 154 will be held on Wednesday, October 31, between 12:15 and 1:30.

Lou Hunley announced that Dr. Jeanne Stuart, Chairperson of the Welfare Committee, and the other members of the Welfare Committee were planning the Forum.

The presiding officer reminded the Senate to urge the faculty members to study the documents printed in FYI on October 15. The attorney general's office has interpreted S.C. Law 154 of 1977 as designating faculty members as state employees under continuing contract after six months employment. At present, university faculty members may legally appeal to the State Employee Review Board. The USC Spartanburg Faculty Senate asked to be under the State Employee Review Board in Fall, 1978. In April, 1979, the Faculty Senate also adopted an Omsbudmen's Plan as Stage One in the process for the Faculty Greivance Procedures. The South Carolina Senate Education Committee is conducting an open hearing on November 15. The Columbia Faculty Senate proposes to lobby for an amendment to Law 154 which excludes faculty of state universities and colleges from classification as State Employees. The purpose of the Forum on the Spartanburg campus is to provide each faculty member with information and to hear the ideas of others. Spartanburg faculty members have a number of decisions to make: 1) to join the Columbia Senate action plan or 2) to support the action of last year or 3) to add to the procedures requested last year or 4) to design new procedures or 5) to do nothing.

There was no further business; the meeting was adjourned.

PROMOTION AND TENURE COMMITTEE

MINUTES

The Prmotion and Tenure Committee met in the Faculty Conference Room at 12:15 PM on 24 September 1979. G. Sims and M. Drucker were absent. New members of the Committee are A. Henderson (elected to fill the 1 year opening left by J. Brown) and M. Drucker (appointed to fill the 1 year opening left by R. Young).

L. Moore was named chairperson-elect of the Committee. All other members, except the present chairperson, expected to resign from or rotate off the Committee by next fall, so no election was held.

A. Henderson moved that the files of all persons who had left the faculty be transferred to an inactive file. This would simplify the physical handling of those active files to be considered by the Committee. The motion carried. It was also noted that the chairperson was responsible for retiring the files of professors.

The Committee received a report from G. Newberry entitled "Promotion Criteria for Library Faculty." After brief discussion, the Committee endorsed the report and forwarded it to the Faculty Senate for action.

The Committee received reports from the chair listing faculty holding various ranks, faculty requesting promotion and/or tenure, and faculty classified by penultimate year.

The chairperson distributed copies of the tenure regulations and terms of employment from the Columbia campus Faculty Manual for study and comparison with our manual.

The chairperson suggested that the Committee present a comprehensive program on tenure regulations and practices in America. The presentation would be for the entire faculty and would be scheduled at the beginning of a semester in a faculty-development time slot. The Committee endorsed the suggestion.

The Committee adjourned at 1:30 PM.

Respectfully submitted,

TO: All Members of the Faculty and Administration

FROM: Lee Holcombe, Chair, Self-Study Steering Committee

In 1976 USCS was accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a four-year, degree-granting institution. In 1981 our accreditation must be reaffirmed by the Southern Association, and in preparation for this we are now embarking upon an institutional self-study similar to that undertaken for our original accreditation.

To supervise this self-study, the administration has appointed a Steering Committee which includes, besides myself as chair, Valerie Burnie, Jane Davisson, Meyer Drucker, Earl Gordon, Conway Henderson, Nancy Moore, Jeanne Stuart and Catherine Talley. This committee has invited Mr. Dan Henderson and Dr. G. B. Hodge to serve as members, representing the University's Board of Trustees and the Spartanburg County Commission on Higher Education respectively, and has also asked Ed. Hurlong and Virginia Martin to serve as members representing the student body.

The Steering Committee has now completed plans for organizing the work of the self-study process. Our chief decisions were these:

(1) to set up Standard Committees to study and report upon the eleven standards set by the Southern Association and outlined in its Manual;

(2) to use, wherever feasible, regular faculty committees as the Standard Committees (members with other self-study responsibilities not to serve, ex officio members not to serve because of possible conflict of interest, and additional faculty to be appointed by the Steering Committee as members because of their special interests and expertise and/or their positions);

(3) to create special Standard Committees only for those standards for which no regular faculty committee has responsibility;

(4) to appoint representatives of the administration and the student body to serve together with faculty members on the Standard Committees.

Hence, our self-study organization can be summarized as follows:

Standard 1 Committee on Purpose

Chair: R. Sobczak
Organization: Academic Forward Planning Committee, and faculty, administration and student members appointed by Steering Committee Members: J. Brown, D. Boggs, M. Bruce, J. Cox, D. Glenn, M.

Standard 2 Committee on Organization and Administration

Chair: A. Henderson
Organization: Special Self-study committee appointed by Steering Committee

White (faculty and administration); and Doug Brannon, Lynn Gilliam, Vickie Hammond, Dan Henson, Oscar Mooney and Rosemary Nichols (students).

Standard 4 Committee on Financial Resources

Chair: M. Jilling
Organization: Special self-study committee appointed by Steering Committee

Standard 6 Committee on Library

Chair: D. Lambert
Organization: Library Committee
Members: K. Fitzpatrick, M. Harker, M. Hendra, J. D. Wilson (faculty); and Rhonda Barnhill, Brian O'Shields and Susan Messinger (students).

Standard 7 Committee on Student Development Services

Chair: M. B. Ulmer
Organization: Athletic Advisory Committee, Student Affairs Committee and Student Financial Aid Committee, and administration members appointed by Steering Committee Members: T. Allen, M. Bruce, L. Campbell, H. Crocker, J. Dye, B. Edwards, H. Gardiner, J. Lewis, R. Luttrell, K. Norman, H. Quinn, M. Strossner, K. Topley (faculty and administration); and Tony English, Rick Hazel, Cecilia Hood, Bill Massey, Andy Moller, Jack Robinson and Paul Small (students).

Standards 10 and 11 Committee on Graduate Program and Research

Chair: J. Yost
Organization: Special self-study committee appointed by Steering Committee Members: E. Babin, C. Brown, A. Crosland, C. Lee, G. Mapley (faculty and administration); and Elizabeth Murff and Catherine Wofford (students).

An institutional self-study is a major undertaking which requires a great deal of hard thinking and hard work. It is also an exciting and challenging undertaking from which we can all learn and benefit. Those of us charged with supervising this self-study urgently need and heartily welcome the interest and the help of each of you.

I. OFFICIAL

TO ALL FACULTY ADVISORS and Division Secretaries: Please return all left-over blank carpool forms to Student Affairs so that we won't have to print more for regular registration. Also, please be sure that all completed forms have been returned to us. Thanks for your help with this project.

THE FOLLOWING IS THE USCS POLICY on cancellation of classes due to bad weather. Please give this policy the widest possible dissemination.

The Director for Information Services is responsible for notifying the following news media on the opening and closing of the university: radio stations WASC, WORD, WKDY, and WSPA in Spartanburg; WFBC and WGXL in Greenville and WEAC in Gaffney. Also WSPA-TV and WFBC-TV will be called.

The Public Safety Office will update the telephone answering service to reflect current information. On days of bad weather, switchboard operators will be picked up by security officers and the switchboard will operate on a normal basis as soon as possible.

The university opens or closes as a whole, and the decision to close or open the campus will be binding on all classes and activities including athletic events, convocations, graduate regional studies courses, continuing education, the Burroughs Child Development Center, and various service functions. If there is a pressing need to vary this policy, contact should be made with Doyle Boggs at home (582-6896), prior to 6:30 a.m. for day events and 3 p.m. for night events. Under no circumstances will any faculty or staff member other than the Director for Information Services contact the news media about cancellations.

For morning classes, the university will generally follows the policy of the Spartanburg County Schools on the first day of a winter storm. The decision to open or close the university will be announced by 6:30 a.m. A decision to open or close the university during the evening hours (classes meeting after 5 p.m.) will be made by the Chancellor and will be announced by the news media not later than 3 p.m. After a major storm, the Chancellor will evaluate the condition of parking lots on the campus and may direct a USCS reopening earlier than for the public schools. In that event, announcements will be made through the regular media channels.

Faculty and students should be aware that they may be required to make up any class hours lost due to bad winter weather. Twelve month employees are not authorized snow leave. They have the option of (1) reporting for work; (2) making up time lost at the discretion of the supervisor; or (3) taking annual leave.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS will be observed on the campus from 8 a.m. Thursday, November 22, to 8 a.m. Monday, November 26. Faculty are reminded that evening classes on Wednesday, November 1, should be held as scheduled. There will be no FYI published on November 26. This week's calendar reflects campus events through December 2.

ALL FACULTY are urged to announce to senior students with Humanities and Social Science majors to attend a career workshop which Arthur George is conducting to help seniors prepare vitas and dossiers to improve their employment prospects. The workshop will be on Monday, November 26 in L268 at 12:15 pm.

FROM HERMENIA GARDNER: The Tutoring Lab is available to provide test taking assistance (reading and/or writing) to handicapped students. It is necessary to call Hermenia Gardner, ext. 341 for an appointment for the student. Kindly encourage handicapped students to utilize the lab for tutoring as needed. FROM THE CHRONICLE OF HIGHER EDUCATION, 13 November 1979: --The President's Commission on Foreign Languages and International Studies last week termed Americans' incompetence in foreign languages "scandalous," and called for reinstatement of foreign-language requirements in high schools, colleges, and universities and urged that foreign language be reinstated as a requirement for college admission or for college graduation. In urging that undergraduates be given greater insight into foreign societies and international issues, the commission's recommendations included 2-3 required courses in international studies for all Bachelor's candidates (apart from required language study); strengthened undergraduate offerings in international studies; comparative perspectives in the teaching of most undergraduate subjects; expanded opportunities for faculty to acquire or strengthen international skills; increased faculty and student exchanges; and an expanded institutional commitment to undergraduate international studies. The commission also urged colleges and universities to centralize the administration of international education programs and place them at a high level in their institutional structures. Schools of business should make a course in international business a requirement for undergraduate foreign language. State colleges and universities should keep tuition increases for foreign students in line with those of local American students. The commission recommended that the federal government spend an additional $178 million annually for foreign languages and international studies at all levels, justifying its call for increased support in terms of national security.
--The validity of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), the nation's most popular college-entrance exam, may soon be seriously undermined according to some admissions officers, even if New York is the only state to enact a "truth-in-testing" law. The law requires that questions and answers of college admissions tests be publicly disclosed after the release of test scores.
--Estimated fall enrollments for all students at US institutions of higher education increased 2.4%, with enrollments at 4-year institutions other than universities being full-time students +1.8% and part-time students +2.2%

Minutes

The Promotion and Tenure Committee met in the Administrative Conference Room at 3:30 P.M. on October 30, 1979. Dr. Sansbury and all members of the Committee were present.

There was discussion of the criteria for promotion and tenure in non-doctorate fields. It was reported that a proposal for these criteria is being formulated by the school of nursing. The criteria for librarians is currently before the faculty senate.

Dr. Sansbury responded to questions about salary increments with promotions and stated that budget restraints will probably continue to reduce the normal increment for promotion. Also as in the past promotion will generally be delayed until the penultimate year reserving early promotion for outstanding performance.

Lawrence Moore resigned as secretary of the committee because of his election as chairperson-elect. Judy Kizer was elected to fill this position.

The chairperson reported that filed will close on October 31 and reading of files will begin on Thursday, November 1. A motion was made and passed that the practice previously employed of reading the files in pairs be abolished for the current committee.

The presentation to the faculty of a program on tenure regulations and practices was discussed. This would tentatively take one hour and would be part of the faculty-development time slot in January. The particular contents of the presentation will be discussed later and a meeting will be scheduled with Dr. Eaglin in December.

Weekly meetings have been scheduled on Wednesdays' at noon throughout the month of November to review files for completeness.

The committee adjourned at 5:00 P.M.

Respectfully submitted
Judy Kizer, Secretary

II. BULLETIN BOARD

FROM DOYLE BOGGS: This is a note of apology and explanation to all faculty who did not receive regular 24 hour service in the Word Processing Center during the first few days of last week.

During the period December 15 through January 15, the departments on the campus spent a total of $2307 in the Word Processing Center, an increase of 60 per cent over the month of November 15 through December 15. This staggering increase becomes even more remarkable when one considers that there were only 13 working days during the entire period and that the faculty was on campus for only the last four days of the billing month.

Although it was certainly no one's intent, then, what amounted to a very unreasonable demand was put on the three center personnel, who lacked even their usual quota of student helpers. As far as I can determine, they all reacted with hard work and a determination to get the job done as well as possible. With a little emergency temporary help, they were able to get things back to normal fairly quickly although it is realized that several classes were forced to start without syllabi.

Because for the first time we now have accurate records about center volume and the extent of peak demand, we can budget to hire temporary help during times of severe pressure. Hopefully, the problems of this spring will not be repeated.

III. Committee Reports

A. Academic Affairs Committee

1. Senate unanimously approved revision of SEDR 514, "Teaching of Reading in the Elementary School." The description in effect prior to this action can be found on page 106 of the 1979-1980 USCS catalog.

The revised description is to read as follows:

> "A basic course which emphasizes the psychological, sociological, physiological and pedagogical factors underlying the process of reading. Stresses the development of basic strategies for teaching word recognition and comprehension skills at all levels of instruction in the elementary school. Includes specific techniques in identifying and planning for individual instructional needs. A minimum of 10 hours of observation in the classroom is required."

2. Senate gave unanimous approval to revision of Biology program for secondary education majors. As revised, the program calls for 45 semester hours of work in specific biology and chemistry courses. The old program, as outlined on page 62 of 1979-1980 USCS catalog, specified certain biology and physics courses, but allowed students to select four courses at the 200-300 level and two courses at the 500-600 level.

B. Student Affairs Committee

1. The following is the text of a report presented by the Student Affairs Committee in response to earlier Senate discussion pertaining to discrimination in various campus organizations;

> The Student Affairs Committee has voted to recognize those organizations which discriminate on the basis of sex which are specifically exempted by the provisions of Title IX (Section 86.14). These include fraternities, sororities, scouts, YMCA, etc.
> The only student organizations on our campus which discriminate with regard to sex is the Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity. In athletics, women's volleyball and basketball, as well as men's basketball, discriminate.

2. The Senate voted to postpone discussion of the issue after the introduction of a motion which read:

> "The faculty does not endorse the chartering of student organizations which have membership regulations which discriminate on basis of race, sex, religion or national origin."

Considerable discussion was generated, centering mainly on the wording of the above motion. This drew amendments which would 1) replace "which discriminate" with "whose intent is to discriminate"; 2) include "age" as one of the discrimination categories.

The discussion was postponed until the first regular meeting of 1980.

No other committee reports were made.

IV. Unfinished Business

A. Senate defeated the following motion first read at meeting of October 19, 1979:

"Two students appointed by the Chancellor shall serve on the Academic Affairs Committee."

B. The Promotion Criteria for Library Faculty," first read October 19,1979, was approved as amended. A copy of amended document attached to these minutes.

V. New Business

A. The Senate passed the following motions pertaining to evaluations:

1. "That Dr. Sansbury (or a designated person) be invited to the next Faculty Senate meeting to discuss classroom visitations by chairpersons."

2. That Dr. Sansbury he invited to the next Faculty Senate meeting to discuss problems and rationale for conducting Student Evaluations.

B. Senate voted to postpone consideration of the following motion:

"Two copies of each written communication issued by any USC Spartanburg committee, ad hoc or standing, as well as Senate and Faculty minutes be deposited in the library. Further, two copies of official written communications by the administration shall be deposited in the library. The chairperson of the Publications Committee shall be reponsible for depositing two copies of any publication under the control of that committee. All documents should be labeled as to issuing body and should be dated in full."

VI. Adjournment

Signed:

Elmer Thomas, Faculty Recording Secretary

Dr. Louise Hunley, Faculty Secretary and Chairperson of the Faculty Senate

PROMOTION CRITERIA FOR LIBRARY FACULTY

The following criteria will be considered for promotion decisions: (as with other faculty positions, it is the reponsibility of each faculty member to assure that his/her file is current with respect to evidence needed to support a promotion consideration.)

1. Competence as a librarian (as demonstrated by evidence such as letters of recommendation, student evaluations, and colleague evaluations, as concerned with such topics as collection development, increased circulation and organizational improvement, improved systems of information retrieval, teaching effectivess in both formal and informal instruction, service to other faculty members, effective administrative coordination of library activities.)

2. Service to the University
   A. Assigned university duties (committee work and other assinged tasks.)
   B. Voluntary service (such as work with student organizations, community service, and forums.)

As a minimum, a library faculty member should have a masters' degree from a school accredited by the American Library Association and should have no serious deficiencies in training or ability that would impair the carrying out of assigned duties. Additional advanced degrees should be looked on favorably for promotion consideration.

The following guidelines normally apply:

B. Elected: Eb Barnes

IV. Announcements and Remarks - Dr. Sansbury

A. Budget and Control Board complied with University's request, as spelled out in special edition of Times 9, that evaluation of unclassified employees in university system should be delegated to the governing boards of the various institutions. Each unit of the university system must have a system of evaluations, and the system may be unique to the institution.

B. What follows is a summary of a discussion pertaining to student evaluations and classroom visitations. On November 16, the Faculty Senate passed resolutions requesting that Dr. Saosbury or a designated individual speak before the full faculty on such matters.

1. Major Faculty Comments and Complaints

Student Evaluations Students do not always take the evaluations seriously, largely because they are required to complete so many. One faculty member, however, reported some students expressed concern because they were not allowed to evaluate a course. Some discussion centered on changing the evaluative process; reduction in number of courses in which evaluations would be conducted and the number of persons to be evaluated; evaluate in designated semesters only;streamlining of the instrument itself.

Classroom Visitations Lack of faculty input; faculty should be informed as to how the information is to be used; data collected could be very random; other methods of performance evaluation should he considered.

2. Dr. Sansbury's Comments

Student Evaluations The student evaluations provide useful feedback and should be a continuous, ongoing process if they are to be of maximum value. Disagreed with contention that students cynical about evaluations. Would not object to change of questions, style, etc., but would object to plan which does not call for an evaluation of some type every semester. Would also object to faculty members having choice as to what courses would be subject to evaluation.

Classroom Visitations Such evaluations work to the advantage of faculty members, since other types of information gathering is more likely to reflect negatively. Would encourage maximum faculty input in the design of such evaluations.

C. USCS budget situation uncertain at present. Much will hinge on success ur failure of action in legislature to return to old way of computing Full Time Equivalent enrollment. Loss in funding could be substantial if present system remains in use.

D. Approval of funding is anticipated in these projects: Humanities and Sciences Building, Hodge Center Expansion, Nursing Building, and Educational TV Equipment Facility.

V. Adjournment

Elmer Thomas, Faculty Recording Secretary

The agenda will include: 1) Academic Affairs Report on the Political Science Curriculum Revision; 2) Second reading of the promotion and tenure recommendations 3) The Faculty position statement on Annual Review and Grievance procedures.

FROM JANE DAVISSON: TALENT SEARCH: Talent Search is a counseling service which provides an opportunity for students with ability who encounter obstacles in the completion of their educational goals. We are searching for talent in area high schools and colleges in the Piedmont area (Spartanburg, Union and Cherokee counties). Since we are located on campus, one of our priorities is providing our services to students at USCS. If a student stops attending class, this may mean that he/she is a potential drop-out. We will be glad to contact and work with the student through our prevention program. Additionally, if you know of students who did not return to USCS, we can contact the student for future admission. We would appreciate your assistance in the Talent Search Program. Contact Mike Alston, ext. 346; Malcolm Sanders, ext. 351; or Dr. Jane Davisson, ext. 343.

FROM JAN YOST: Grant Proposal submitted: USCS has submitted a preliminary proposal, "Increasing Educational Opportunity for Piedmont Adults," to the Fund for Improvement of Postsecondary Education (FIPSE) requesting $144,700, over three years. The project involves recruitment of adults, particularly women and minorities, through coordination with area employers. Participants will be offered continuing education courses in reading improvement, English composition, mathematics, and/or study skills in preparation for admission to USCS. Principal Investigator: Dr. Alice Henderson (History).

DONUT NIGHT: This semester the Student Affairs Division is sponsoring three donut nights. These programs are designed to provide refreshments and information of interest to evening students. A group of specially trained peer counselors will staff Donut Nights. Administrators, faculty, and counselors will be available to talk to students. Donut Night will be held on Feb. 4 in the Library Bldg, 2nd floor; Feb. 5 in the Administration Bldg, 2nd floor; and Feb. 6 in the Media Bldg, 2nd floor. Everyone is invited.

THE HODGE CENTER Gym was the scene of a valiant attempt by the School of Nursing faculty "allstars" to at least "keep-up" with the nursing students in basketball competition. Although the S.O.N. faculty had the brilliant coaching of Joe Bowman, the "allstars," numbering "10" were over-"run" by the "25"(+) students with the final margin being 29-13. But everyone really won because of all the fun involved.

Promotion and Tenure Committee

Minutes

The Promotion and Tenure Committee met in the Conference Room in the Administration building at 4:00 P.M. on December 12, 1979. Dr. Sansbury reported that he had discussed the removal of administrators from the tenure track with Paul Ward, a University attorney. Mr. Ward believes that our syster is proper and does not abrogate contractual rights of faculty members. The assumption is that all persons who took the option of removing themselves from the tenure track did so completely voluntarily and chose what was in their own best interests. However, it was pointed out that the administratic in Columbia has not permitted a department chairman to remove himself.

The question was raised whether faculty who were promoted from instructor to assistant professor in the middle of an academic year, upon completion of their doctoral degree, would enter the tenure track officially on the date of their promotion. Dr. Sansbury replied that in these cases time in rank will be considered to begin on September 1 of the academic year in which they are promoted.

Faculty hired on one-year contracts as an assistant professor will be considered to be in the tenure track from the time of their original appointment as assistant professor.

New criteria for promotion are being drawn up by the faculty of the School of Nursing and will be distributed to the Promotion and Tenure Committee for consideration at its next meeting on Tuesday, December 19 at 4 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Alice Henderson

Promotion and Tenure Committee

Minutes

The Promotion and Tenure Committee met in the 7000I Building on South Pine at 4:00 P.M. on December 18, 1979. All members were present. Dr. Sansbury and Dr. Eaglin also attended.

The criteria for promotion and tenure suggested by the schonl of nursing for their faculty were discussed. Lawrence Moore made a motion that the committee adopt the School of Nursing Faculty Suggestions for More Specific Promotion and Tenure Criteria dated 11/6/79 as internal working guidelines in reviewing nursing faculty for promotion and tenure along with the faculty manual and that these be subject to review from time to time. The motion was seconded by Carol Schwartz and passed unanimously.

There was discussion of the question of whether people can be removed from the tenure track. It was suggested that the university may adopt criteria and procedures for this but so far USCS does not have any in its faculty manual. Questions were also raised about faculty who have already gotten out of the tenure track with regard to their tenure status. It was felt that clarification of these issues is needed and a subcommittee to study this was appointed. This subcommittee consists of Emmanuel Seko, Alice Henderson, and Meyer Drucker.

Respectfully submitted,

Judy Kizer

FROM ADDY KLOEPPER (nursing): A 12 hour course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be held for all university faculty and staff on April 1, 3, 8 and 10 from 6:30 pm to 9:30 pm each Tuesday and Thursday evening. The course is sponsored by the School of Nursing and the Continuing Education Department. Participants must complete all 12 hours to be certified in this life saving technique. For further information or to reserve a place in this class call Becky Walker in Continuing Education, ext. 422.

FROM INFORMATION SERVCIES: JAN CALDWELL has joined the university staff as Printing Services Manager, with responsibilities for the Word Processing Center and for assisting the Director for Information Services in the contracting of external printing. Mr. Caldwell has more than ten years experience in the printing business and his presence will mean a great deal to us in the quality and speed with which we can deliver more sophisticated printing and reproduction.

Because of his added responsibilities, we again ask faculty and staff cooperation in making the Word Processing Center more efficient. Please keep the following suggestions in mind:

1. The WPC does not provide personal secretarial service. Rather it is designed for fast typing and reproduction of legible copy at a lower cost. Please make sure that your drafts are clean, that all words are spelled as you want them to be on the finished product, that any addresses required are furnished with your order, and that instructions are clear.

2. Please allow at least 24 hours for delivery of academic work, and three to five days for delivery of second priority materials. During the academic year, this is the best service we can provide because of sheer volume. Of course, the center is trying to meet emergencies and will continue to do so but the amount of "emergency work" now coming into the center is excessive and could be reduced by better planning. Many users are using the term "ASAP" (as soon as possible) for their requisitions. Jobs with this designation will receive routine treatment. If you need to meet a specific deadline, or have a pressing need for the material, you should indicate a date and time required.

3. The proper way to submit materials to the WPC is to place them at the appropriate pick-up station -- there is one in each building, and there are pick-up and delivery services, both at mid-morning and mid-afternoon. If you must bring something to the center yourself, the item should be brought to the Office of Information Services and given to Janella Koob. Faculty access to the typists remains in effect provided the job is properly logged in, but cooperation in keeping interruptions to an absolute minimum will be most sincerely appreciated.

Because of budgetary limitations, the WPC has been severely understaffed all year, and yet has undertaken to do an ever-increasing volume of work. Because of the strain, the cooperation of everyone on campus is urgently needed if services are to be maintained and needed improvements made.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE INFORMATION FOR ADVISORS - FROM REGIS ROBE

1. Placement. A student with two years of high school language or one college semester and a B average in the language should be placed in 102. A student with more than two years of high school language or two college semesters and a B average in the language should be placed in 201 or 205.
2. Placement Test. In the case of a student who has not taken a language course in many years (say, ten), a placement test can be administered. Have the student see Dr. Robe or Dr. Cherry for more information.
3. Credit. Remind students that they will receive credit for foreign language courses lower than the level they place into if they receive a grade of C or better in that course.
4. Summer Sessions. Spanish 101 and 102 will be offered as an intensive course during the first summer session. French 101 and 102 will be offered during the second.
5. Business Reading Course. Of special interest to students majoring in Business will be the reading course in Business German offered in the fall and the reading course in Business French in the spring. These courses are introductory in nature and have no pre-requisite. They can be taken for 3 hours of credit in the regular curriculum or without credit through Continuing Education.
6. Spanish 205, offered in the fall, is Elementary Spanish Conversation and is at the same level as 201.

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA AT SPARTANBURG

Office of Institutional Research

An Overview

What is "Institutional Research?"

For our purposes, a working definition of IR follows:

"Institutional Research" is a multidisciplinary approach to the analysis of data collected on USCS students, curriculum, faculty, physical plant and processes and operations (eg. student personnel services, space utilization, plant and business operations which impinge on the academic program communication and decision-making system) for the purpose of facilitating policy formation and decision-making. In summary, IR is a variegated term of organizational self-study designed to help us gather an expanding range of information about our internal operations and the effectiveness with which we use our resources.

Why the Office Exists?

The Office has major responsibility for planning, executing and coordinating institutional research, collecting pertinent data; interpreting or otherwise distributing and translating such data to the University community; providing a central depository for same; assisting related internal efforts and responding to inquiries from external agencies.

The collection and the translation of this data into useful knowledge is necessary (a) to understand and to interpret the institution; (b) to make intelligent decisions about current operation or plans for the future; and (c) to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the institution.

What are the major functions of the Office?

To achieve these ends, the Office currently performs six (6) major functions:

1. Data collection
2. Analysis of data
3. Preparation of Operating, Statistical and Analytical Reports
4. Preparation of special studies including studies in support of educational development
5. Provision of research and comparative studies, references and other resources to facilitate institutional research conducted by faculty and staff
6. Central depository for internally and externally generated research
7. Staff work other than research, as the institutional researcher's skills are tapped

What is the Current Focus of the Office?

The major focus of the office during 1979-80 is to generate operating reports. These include enrollment, student aid, financial and other types of data presented in a tabular form. These reports are fundamental to building IR capability as well as helpful to the self study process.

To facilitate the self-study process and to increase general understanding of the University's development, fact sheets will be generated regularly and attached to FYI. Each fact sheet will be an operating report on a particular set of data available from 1974 to 1979. The fact sheets will be on 3-hole paper for your convenience in making a desk reference.

A fact book is best described as a collection of summaries from operating and analytical reports covering a period of years in a form that permits ready reference and easy annual updating. The fact sheets distributed during the current academic year will constitute the majority of a proposed fact book. The first edition of a USCS factbook is projected for November 1, 1980.

* * * *

At a small institution like USCS, the total responsibility of institutional research cannot rest on one person's shoulders. The aid and interest of all is invited.

877 computer answer sheets and
585 personal comments returned.

Faculty/Administration - 161 surveyed;

121 personal comments returned.

Staff - 104 surveyed;

61 comments returned.

As for the R part, results of the questionnaires will be printed and circulated through the campus mail as soon as possilbe.

SUMMER JOB OPPORTUNITIES are available with P.C.A., Firestone, Hoechst, Milliken, and various other companies. The list is still growing. All referrals will be handled through USCS Placement Office. Students will be referred by the Placement Office on a first come first served basis. Current listing is over 300 summer jobs.

SUMMER YOUTH WORK EXPERIENCE PROGRAM slots are available again this year to USCS. The forms will be sent out shortly, and the request must be returned to P.C.A. by April 28th. Students can work 25 hours per week. Call the Placement Office for details, ext. 414.

NOTE OF THANKS to faculty and staff who have assisted in referring students directly to employers. However, I will be happy to follow up any job lead you may have and refer students directly. A number of employers have expressed an interest in having USCS students referred through the Placement Office, and report to them with our special placement referral card. I am concerned about the liability that is incurred under Title VII. The law states that referring applicants to employers constitutes an employment agency contract. I will be happy to furnish interested persons with a copy of the new employment agency requirements under Title VII published by College Placement Council.

NOTE: Students need to visit the Placement Office to get company applications. Many companies such as Sears, Hoechst, and Firestone, take applications on a continuous basis rather than contacting the Placement Office each time there is an opening.

COMING SOON: A list of companies registered with the Placement Office will soon be published.

Academic positions are in a variety of fields with varying 'classifications' (and salaries) for different levels of qualifications. II. BULLETIN BOARD

TWO EXHIBITS created by the S.C. Museum Commission will be on display at the USCS Library Art Gallery during May. "South Carolina Through The Mails" features a grouping of post cards available in the early years of the 20th century. Accompanying the post card exhibit is a display of sculpture from the state art collection. The original penny post card emerged as a way to send a short, friendly greeting around 1898. Because post cards were frequently printed in small quantities, there were usually numerous photos taken of the same subject over a short period of time, thus providing an excellent chronological history and an excellent source for local research.

A BEACH CAMPING TRIP for faculty, staff and the Outdoors Club, is being organized for the week following graduation at Hunting Island State Park. If you would like to join - for any part of the week - please contact Ron Sobczak or Lawrence Moore.

FREE FILMS: Because of USCS's membership in the Southern Atlantic States Association for Asian and African Studies (SASASAAS) USCS faculty have free use of the SASASAAS collection of films on Asia and Africa. These are good, recent films and anyone interested should consult the film catalog in the Audio-Visual Production Center, M134, ext. 264, or contact Jim Brown, L236, ext. 433.

TEACH ABROAD: Fulbright award openings for 1981-82 have been announced. The awards generally are for a year of teaching in a university in another country and normally cover roundtrip travel for the individual and one dependent, a maintenance allowance for family living costs, and an "incidentals" allowance. In some cases foreign language competance is required. The dates for applications are June 1, 1980 for the American Republics, Australia, and New Zealand; and July 1, 1980 for Africa, Asia, and Europe. The American Republics, Africa, Asia, and Eastern Europe receive less demand, and later applications for these areas are often accepted. One does not have to be "a well-known scholar in his field" to receive a Fulbright and anyone interested in such teaching (for which one can usually take a leave of absence from USCS) should consider applying. For further information contact the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, 11 Dupont Circle, Suite 300, Washington, D.C. 20036, or Jim Brown, L236, ext. 433.

USCS WILL SPONSOR four (week long) basketball camps this summer. The dates for the camps are: July 6-11, 13-18, 20-25 and July 27-Aug. 1. Applicants must be between the ages of 8-18. Registration including all meals and overnight camping is $100.00, excluding overnight, $60.00. Deadline for registration is May 15. For more information contact Bill Hinson, ext. 223.

The grants do not cover transportation, but cover tuition, room, partial board and a subsidy, all of which comes to a total of about $3,400. Anyone interested in such a possibility contact Jim Brown, L-236, Ext. 433.

SCHOLAR-DIPLOMAT SEMINARS: The U.S. State Department runs a series of "Scholar-Diplomat Seminars" in which faculty members, particularly younger Ph.D.s, spend a week in the State Department observing the foreign policy process and discussing current policy issues. A key element of the program is the assigning of each scholar to a host officer whose interest most nearly matches that of the scholar to a host officer whose interest most nearly matches that of the scholar. Some of the seminars focus on specific world areas, such as the Middle East, Europe, or East Asia, while others focus on topics, such as Politico-Military or Economic-Business. Most costs are covered by the State Department. For further information and tentative dates for the various 1980-81 seminars contact Jim Brown, L-236, Ext. 433.

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS IN INDIA: The Indo-U.S. Subcommission on Education Culture offers fellowships for research in India. The objective of the program is to draw into educational exchange individuals who are NOT Indian specialists but whose disciplinary or professional skills can be enhanced by the opportunity to carry out research in India. The awards are offered without restriction as to field, but lsited areas of interest include the natural, applied, and social sciences, business, medicine, public health, and creative arts. (English is spoken in India.) The subcommission offers short-term awards for two to three months, or long-term awards for six to ten months. The stipends are generous and include transportation (but only long-term awards include money for dependents). The application deadline for 1981-82 has passed, but anyone interested in this type of opportunity should plan ahead for next year's competition. For additional information or to see the things requested on the application, contact Jim Brown, L-236, Ext. 433.

TEACHING AND RESEARCH ABROAD: Various announcements have appeared in FYI over the past year about teaching and research opportunities abroad. Though application deadlines for most of these have now passed, several points are worth making. Most of these opportunities are available each year, they are not only-once programs. Announcements of awards frequently come only relatively shortly before applications are due, but deadline dates are usually the same from year to year, so it is wise to plan ahead and not wait for the official announcements to begin planning or preparing one's application. Further, applications are frequently required well in advance of the time one would actually go abroad. Fulbrights, for example--as discussed in the May 5 FYI--are not unusual in requiring applications in the spring for grants to be used in the fall of the following calendar year--some fifteen months later. Obviously, planning ahead is essential. In addition to the scholarly/disciplinary advantages of teaching and/or research abroad, such opportunities provide an excellent means to expand one's horizons and to get to know another culture--and thus often one's own--better. And while such experiences are also enormously educational for one's children, they are generally not as disruptive of the children's formal education as commonly presumed. Anyone interested in further information or in seeing application forms for some of the programs contact Jim Brown, L-236,Ext. 433.

RESEARCH FELLOWSHIPS IN GERMANY: The Deutscher Akademischer Austauschdienst (DAAD) awards grants to individual research projects in the Federal Republic of Germany and West Berlin lasting up to three months. Living, research, and local travel expenses are covered, but not international travel or dependents. The grants are open to scholars in all disciplines. Application deadlines are October 31, 1980 and January 31, 1981. For further information, including a sample application form, see Jim Brown, L-235, Ext. 433.

DR. FRANK B. RAYMOND III, a native of Danville, Va., has been named dean of the College of Social Work at the University of South Carolina in Columbia. Raymond, who has served as acting dean of the college for the past year, was selected for the post after a national search and review of candidates.

FREE FILMS: In planning fall semester classes you are reminded that if you can use films on Asia and Africa, there are free films available through the South Atlantic States Association for Asian and African Studies (SASASAAS). Catalogues are available from Jane Bradley (M134) and Jim Brown (L236)

A REMINDER TO ALL ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENTS: First priority work in the Word Processing Center remains the preparation of classroom work for faculty. It is anticipated that this workload will be extremely heavy during the class syllabus typing season, August 17-August 29. However, it may not be possible to do non-academic work such as fliers or other promotional materials during this period. Therefore, all administrative offices who anticipate needing such materials before September 7 whould submit their requests to Jan Caldwell in the WPC as soon as possible.

THE CHILD DEVELOPMENT CENTER will again sponsor a After-School Enrichment Program which will include after-school pick-up, snacks and planned activities. The fee will be $15. a week and (there is no charge) for people with a demonstrated financial need. Contact the CDC at ext. 318,319 if interested.

TUTORING LABORATORY - All Deans, Department Chairpersons, and Faculty are asked to help in referring academically talented students to work in the Tutoring Lab for 1980-81 school year. There are openings for tutors in math, English, business, accounting; and one graduate assistantship in math or English. Refer interested students to Jane Davisson, Director, Developmental Studies.

ECIAL EDITION EHOI A Newsletter For The Faculty Of USCS August 19, 1980

The Chancellor has requested that all faculty review this special report of the Board of Trustees meeting in Columbia, August 12, 1980.

The USC Board of Trustees met in Columbia, Tuesday, August 12, 1980. At this meeting the Board approved the creation of a Center for Child and Family Studies to be operated in the College of General Studies on the Columbia campus. This will be an administrative unit to coordinate activities which currently exist in the College of General Studies. It will address itself to the investigation of various influences on family and the provision of services related to the findings of these studies. The Governor has expressed considerable interest in this project.

The Board also passed a proposal extending the probationary period for Columbia faculty appointed at the rank of associate professor and professor. The probationary period for both will now be six years. This action affects tenure only at the Columbia campus. Additional action on grievance policies for the two and four year campuses was delayed until the September 13 meeting of the Board.

An affiliation agreement between the USC Medical School and the Greenville Hospital System was approved by the Trustees, as well as the creation of study committees to review Trustees by-laws and the general policy on naming buildings. However, the Trustees did agree to name the Federal Building the James F. Byrnes International Center.

In the President's report, Dr. Holderman presented the Formula Budget Request submitted to CHE on August 4. Attached are three sheets showing the budgets for the University and for other elements of higher education. In his presentation to CHE, Dr. Holderman stressed the tremendous difference that is developing between South Carolina and other Southeastern states in terms of tuition and fees charged our students. The Commission appeared to respond positively to this concern. However, the Commission expressed reservations about the number of new positions requested. The breakdown on the new positions requested included:

II. BULLETIN BOARD

FROM TOM ALLEN: The USCS faculty-staff softball team completed its fifth season of play in the Twilight Softball League. USCS finished 10-10 overall. The highlight of an otherwise struggling season was a runnerup finish in the league championship tourney.

This year's batting crown goes to Ron Romine who led the team in several offensive categories: average (.676), slugging percentage (1.059), and home runs (4). Sam Sloan and Eber Blackwood led the team in runs batted in with 23 each. Al Gray was tops in extra bases with a total of 22. In addition several other players had excellent offensive seasons earning batting averages above the .500 mark: M.B. Ulmer (.600), Bill Reitmeier (.563), and Gene Hutsell (.545).

The defensive golden glove goes to Jerry Baker. Jerry completed the season with a .952 mark in 62 chances.

Tournament MVP honors are shared by Jerry Baker and Bill Reitmeier. Bill batted .640 during seven games, this includes 10 RBI's and 9 doubles. Jerry played to a .545 average and a team high of 12 RBI's. Likewise both contributed some outstanding defensive plays during that tourney. M.B. Ulmer deserves kudos for his team high B.A. of .667 including the game winning hit that put USCS in the championship game.

We are looking forward to next season's play when the league expands to sixteen teams--doubling its present size. Moreover, next year's league winners will qualify for the first time for city and statewide championship competition.

JAPANESE MOVIES: For the next three Sundays, beginning September 7th, outstanding Japanese movies will be shown on ETV (Channel 29) at 11:30 a.m. The first of these will be "Pilgrimage of a Thousand Days." It will last 90 minutes and will be shown in Japanese with English sub-titles.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS: Those interested in reports and analysis of events around the world should be aware of the magazine World Press Review: News & Views from the Foreign Press, which is available in the USCS library. The current issue will be found with other periodicals in the "soft-chair" section of the library, with back issues on the periodical shelves. The magazine is not just a selection of "news" stories, but includes major articles from both magazines and newspapers/as well as columns by a World Press Review staff member for each major world geo-political area, discussing the past month in the press of that region. Nor is the focus exclusively political. The current issue contains shorter pieces on such topics as the arts, medicine and health, the environment, and business, along with major articles on the Caribbean, Iran, South Africa, the selling of DNA, Reagan (written by a South Asian), and an interview with Jean-Louis Servan-Schreiber on the post-political era.

ALLIANCE FRANCAISE: A new year has begun for the Alliance Francaise du Piedmont. The Alliance's purpose are to encourage interest in French culture, its history, the language and closer ties with the people of France. A knowledge of the French language is not required, and all are welcome to join or to visit. This is an easy and painless way to increase one's contacts with those from another culture, or to brush up on one's French. They usually have one meeting a month. The first meeting of the year will be a wine & cheese party, Saturday, 13 September, 8:00 pm in the auditorium of the Arts Center, 385 S. Spring Street. Membership costs are: family, $16; individual, $10; student, $5. For further information contact Jim Brown, L236, ext. 433, or Regis Robe, L230, ext. 430.

COOPER LIBRARY IN Columbia is able to search a wide variety of data bases in the DIALG system by computer, and this service is available to USCS faculty and students. In order to use the service, it is necessary to call Mike Haevener (4866) in Columbia to schedule an appointment with a librarian. After the search is run, the information will be mailed to the user; it will not be available the same day the user goes to Columbia. Fees charged are based on the cost per hour of a particular data base, the telephone connect charge, and the number of citations listed. If you have questions about the computer searches, please call Valerie Burnie or Ellenor McCaughrin (410 or 411) in the library.

ALL FACULTY, from Jimmy Dawkins, Computer Room: In order to schedule student workers' hours to coincide with the student demand for access to and assistance in the computer room for Fall semester, it will be necessary for all instructors of courses requiring the use of the computer facilities to supply us with a copy of the course syllabus and a schedule of anticipated program assignments.

Please advise your classes that beginning September 8, 1980, the computer room will be open from 8:30 am-10:00 pm, Monday through Thursday, 8:30 am-5:00 pm on Friday and 9:00 am-1:00 pm on Saturday. Also, batch runs will be every 30 minutes. Thank you!

There is no additional fee for students who are currently enrolled for 12 to 18 hours. Other students will need to pay $33.

Assignments: Approximately one hour of reading of related material in periodicals or the Great Decisions book will be expected each week. Students will write either 7 short news articles or 2 longer background articles on topics discussed.

Grades: Students may use the pass-fail grading option.

Instructor: Alice Henderson

II. BULLETIN BOARD

FROM JIM BROWN: JAPAN: Sunday, 14 Sept., 11:30 am, ETV Channel 29, there will be a broadcast of the Japanese movie A Family, which won Japan's National Arts Festival in 1978. The film begins in a Japanese temple that people visit to pray for sudden and painless death. The film focuses on two people who visit the temple--an elderly woman who is making a pilgrimage on behalf of her ailing husband and a 20-year-old wanderer disillusioned with life. This is a ninety minute movie which will be shown in Japanese with English subtitles.

FROM JIM BROWN: SHOGUN, based on the best-selling historical novel by James Clavell, will be a major television production of the new season. NBC has spent considerable time and effort to produce a "block-buster" of exceptionally high quality. The National Education Association praises the production, saying 'Shogun' is a culturally broadening adventure story set in feudal Japan three centuries ago. The drama initially reflects the alienation of a Western captive but ultimately portrays his gradual acceptance of Japanese culture. The viewer soon understands how the captive Westerner can come to appreciate and identify with the culture that at first seemed so alien and unacceptable. We strongly recommend this powerful and rich drama." The program will be aired on five consecutive nights, beginning a week from today on September 15, 9-12 pm. It stars Richard Chamberlain. An example of the effort at authenticity is the use of English subtitles when Japanese is being spoken. The program should be a very enjoyable way to easily increase one's knowledge of a traditional non-western culture. For a viewer's guide for the program, contact Jim Brown, ext. 433, L 236.

USCS CAMPUS RECRUITING SCHEDULE FOR SEPTEMBER IS: Sept. 23 - Mutual of Omaha; Sept. 24 - Radio Shack.

FROM DOYLE BOGGS: As part of the expanded recruiting effort next year, USCS will be publishing brochures describing individual academic programs. In order to conserve money and staff time, a common format has been designed and approved by the Administrative Council, and a blanket purchase order has been secured with an outside printing firm. The first two brochures, a financial aid pamphlet and a Computer Science mini-catalog, have already gone to press, and brochures on nursing, criminal justice and "The Arts at USCS" are in preparation. Departments wishing to be represented in the series should start planning now, as funds may be limited. Within the limitations of the common format departments will be able to write, choose colors, and design their own books.

For this program, additional campus photographs are badly needed, and Becky and Alan Gray will need to visit some classrooms during the next several weeks to make both still pictures and slides. We especially need more and better photographs of the computer center and the science laboratories. Every effort will be made to keep interruptions to a minimum and to make pictures in the first few minutes of class. Our faculty has always been exceptionally cooperative in such efforts, and it has been most appreciated.

LAST MONTH'S TIMES NINE contained the promotion and tenure announcement for the USCS faculty. Somehow, the names of Ellenor McCaughrin and Judy Dye, who received tenure as librarians, were misplaced as the list was sent from the USC Board of Trustees to the Columbia Information Office. This error will be corrected in the next issue of Times Nine.

THE CONTINUING EDUCATION DIVISION in conjunction with the USCS School of Business Administration, recently held a seminar at the Holiday Inn in Spartanburg. The seminar "Inventory Control Systems" was very well attended, received and evaluated by the participants. Mohammed Omer was the seminar leader.

I OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

PRESIDENT HOLDERMAN has invited all faculty members at USCS to attend his annual reception at the President's home in Columbia on Tuesday evening, September 30 from 7 to 9 p.m. Transportation for USCS faculty desiring to attend will leave from the front of the Hodge Center that afternoon at 5 p.m. Faculty members interested in attending should reserve a seat by calling Rita Weaver in Academic Affairs, ext. 426.

THE ACADEMIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE will meet on Wednesday, September 17 at 3:30 in Media 215. The agenda will be 1) SACS - Standard III, Curriculum; 2) Grade changes; 3) Revision of SEDS 475-481, Directed Teaching in Secondary Education. Note: Fred Wenz is now the SBS representative in Academic Affairs.

ON SEPTEMBER 23 (12:30, L276) and September 24 (4:00, L276) there will be an important meeting of all Secondary Education Majors to explain changes in their program as required by Act 187 effective July 1, 1981. Please advise any student who is in or may transfer to the School of Education to attend one of these meetings. All faculty are welcome.

USCS HAS BEEN AWARDED a certificate of commendation by the South Carolina Association for Retarded Citizens for efforts in the recent Good Health appeal.

FROM BILL REITMEIER: The last day to apply for admission to the Student Teaching Program is September 30. Special note should be taken by Secondary Majors in Psychology, History, etc. Applications are available in the Office of the Coordinator of Field Experiences, Media Building, room 139.

FROM THE CHANCELLOR: As many of you have heard, the news about enrollment this fall is extremely good. The student body this fall numbers 2608, up 8 per cent from last year, and the FTE count was 1891, up 7.7 per cent and considerably above our projection of 1827. This will give us a strong case when we ask the legislature for additional capital money and faculty slots next spring. Of course, this did not happen by accident, especially during a time when other colleges in our area were recruiting vigorously. The "One Good Course" advertising campaign designed by Information Services produced almost 50 students, returning our investment three-fold and giving us added visibility in the community. Kevin Smith and Cathe Emmerth, who came on board in the Admissions Office late in the summer, did an excellent job in helping us counsel and admit a large number of late applicants. The staff worked many extra hours under some trying circumstances. However, most of the credit goes to the faculty. Many faculty members participated in the effort to contact directly every student who had applied but who had not attended orientation or completed the admissions process. And of course, the quality of our faculty and their willingness to give individual attention and assistance is becoming widely known in the community and is having a dramatic impact on college choices. I'm most pleased with our start this year. To say it again, "We've arrived."

FALL SPEAKERS - USCS has scheduled the following convocations programs during the fall semester. On October 2, Tom Wicker, Associate Editor of the New York Times will speak on campus on the Future of Southern Politics. On October 15, Ray Vernon, from the Harvard Center for International Affairs, Kennedy School of Government will speak on "Economics and the International on the Sunbelt." On Nov. 3, novelist Han Suyin, will speak on "The Roles and Lifestyles of Chinese and Sunbelt Women." All of these programs are important university wide events which should be attended widely by students and the community. Please hold these dates open on your own personal calendars and do everything possible to assist in promoting them.

FROM TOM OWENS: There will be a mathematics faculty meeting Tuesday, September 16, in A-207 (David Taylor's Office) at 9:00 a.m.

NEW TUTORING LAB COORDINATOR - We're pleased to announce the appointment of Susan Montjoy to the position of Tutoring Lab Coordinator, in the Department of Developmental Studies. Student referrals, prospective tutors, and specific questions can be directed to her at ext. 359 or ext. 343 in the Library Building. Welcome to the staff at USCS, Susan.

III. FACULTY/STAFF NOTES

Nine School of Nursing faculty worked in direct clinical practice during the summer of 1980. Their work facilitated meeting some of the health care needs of clients in our area of the state, supported community and University relationships, and enabled faculty to remain in contact with clinical needs and direct nursing practice. They were:

BRENDA HARDEN was employed as a staff nurse at Spartanburg General Hospital on the Pediatrics Unit.

KAREN PEEL worked as a staff nurse in the Coronary Care Unit at Spartanburg General Hospital and served on a part-time basis as charge nurse on that unit during the evening.

BETTY PRYOR worked for Surgical Associates of Spartanburg, P.A. (The office of Dr. Colvin, Jeffords, Morris, and Evans).

HOLLY CROCKER worked as a private duty nurse and worked part-time at the Spartanburg County Health Department in Home Health Services.

HOLLY CROCKER, BRENDA HARDEN and JUDY KUGLER participated in a blood pressure screening at Westgate Mall during S.C. Nurse Week. The screening was sponsored by the Piedmont District Nurses' Association. Approximately 176 blood pressures were taken during the four hour period on October 17, 1980.

BRENDA HARDEN attended the Second Annual Neonatal-Pediatric Clinicourse on Cardio-pulmonary Critical Care at the Hyatt Hotel in Birmingham, Alabama on Oct. 9-11. The clinicourse was sponsored by the Academy of Allied Medical Services.

GLORIA CLOSE, Education Coordinator for Spartanburg 70001, has recently participated in several professional activities. On Sept. 24, 1980, Mrs. Close conducted a training seminar for the instructors of Spartanburg Technical College's Project Employability. The seminar was entitled, "The Adult Learner: the Ages and Stages of Adult Development as Related to the Teaching-Learning Transaction." She also participated in Seventy Thousand and One Career Association (SEVCA) planning workshops held in Wilmington, Delaware, September 28-30, 1980. IV. USCS SPORTS RESULTS

THE WOMEN'S VOLLEYBALL TEAM is 21-14 for the season with wins last week over Presbyterian, Lander and Columbia College. Results of games with North Greenville and Furman over the past weekend will be published next week. This week the volleyball team will face Newberry, Baptist, Erskine and Limestone.

THE SOCCER TEAM IMPROVED their record to 10-7-1, with wins over Coker and Presbyterian College last week. However, USCS has learned that it will have to forfeit six of its soccer victories this fall due to ineligibility of one of its players. According to Tom Davis, the situation was discovered during a routine check of player records. It was found that one player, an older student who had made the varsity through efforts on the USCS club team a year ago, dropped a course on Sept. 4, due to conflicts with his full-time off campus job. This action left him with 10 semester hours attempted, two short of the NAIA's definition of full-time status. Davis said that USCS immediately held the player out of action pending a ruling by NAIA District 6, which was received last Tuesday. Davis stated: "There is no question that under the rules, the player was ineligible. We are certainly disappointed for the players, who had an excellent chance to make the district playoffs in our first season in the sport. However, we feel that we have had a very successful soccer season, and this does not make any difference in the way we feel about the outstanding job our players and Coach Frank Kohlenstein have done this year. As an indication of the character of the team, they have won two straight shutout victories since they learned of the situation."

USCS has three games remaining this season, road trips to Presbyterian, Davidson, and Brevard.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

"I could not stay in peace in Europe while China was being invaded by Japan." -1938

These words by Han Suyin probably best describe the basic motivation for much of her life and work. The daughter of a Chinese father and a Belgium mother, Han Suyin was moved by the poverty sickness in her native Peking to study medicine, despite her mother's disapproval. Financing her initial studies at Yenching University, she later obtained a scholarship to Belgium where she completed her pre-medical studies (1936-38). Practicing mid-wifery in interior China during the Sino-Japanese War, she wrote her first book, Destination Chungking. In the foreword to A Many-Splendored Thing, a later work, Chungking is described as a "vivid picture of Free China, the suffering of the Chinese People and life in the old feudal provinces of Western China. In its last chapter Han Suyin foreshadows prophetically the coming struggle between the Chinese Nationalists and Communists."

In 1942 she accompanied her husband, General Tang, to England. Han Suyin remained in England after his death during the civil war in China in 1947. Obtaining a scholarship from the British Council, she completed her medical studies while in England. She also worked in her spare time to support herself and her adopted daughter, Yungmei.

In 1949 she accepted a medical post in Hong Kong. There she wrote A Many Splendored Thing, the book upon which the motion picture "Love is a Many-Splendored Thing" is based. This is a memoir of her love affair with a British correspondent later killed while covering the war in Korea, the background of the novel.

In 1952 Han Suyin moved to Malaya where she practiced medicine until 1964. During her spare time there, she wrote And the Rain My Drink. While in Malaya she also taught contemporary Asian literature for 3 years at Nan Yang University. In 1956 she went to Nepal to attend the coronation of the King of Nepal. There she wrote The Mountain Is Young.

Between 1964 and 1968 Han Suyin published three works which combine her autobiography with a history of China (The Crippled Tree, A Mortal Flower and Birdless Summer.) My House Has Two Doors, recently published, covers the years from 1949 to 1976.

During the 7-year period from 1968 to 1975, Han Suyin was engaged in writing a monumental work: the life of chairman Mao Tsetung and its impact on China. The work was published in two volumes: The Morning Deluge and Wind in the Tower. Mao's death and the downfall of his wife and her acolytes are treated in a paperback series Han Suyin published in 1977 and 1978.

An individual of many talents, she also lectures regularly on Chinese military affairs at the French Military Academy and at the Staff Colleges in England and in India.

I. OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

ALL USCS OFFICES will close for the Christmas holidays at 5 p.m. Tuesday, December 23, and will reopen on Monday morning, Jan. 5, 1981. Faculty members desiring to work in their offices should therefore notify the Public Safety Office (telephone ext. 269 or 578-7827) when they come on campus. Faculty or staff using university facilities over the holidays are asked to be very careful to keep all doors locked and make sure any lights or utilities are turned off when they leave.

TEACH IN CHINA. The USC system has signed an agreement with Shanxi University in China's Shanxi Province for faculty and student exchanges. The first faculty will probably go to China in the fall of 1981. The Chinese will provide accomodations (including dependents) and USC is attempting to raise money to cover transportation costs. Exchange will normally be for a full academic year. The exact number who will go for the first year is not yet known. The Chinese are most interested in having faculty in the sciences, and anyone in the sciences will likely receive very serious consideration. Other possibilities include those with experience teaching the English language. Anyone at all interested, or anyone desiring more information, contact Jim Brown, L-236, ext. 433.

THE USCS CONTEMPORARY MUSIC WORKSHOP will present its annual Holiday Pops Concerts today (Dec. 9) under the direction of Bryan Lindsay. Performances are scheduled for 12:3 p.m. in the Hodge Center Lobby, and 8:00 p.m in the auditorium at the Spartanburg Arts Center. Both performances are free and the public is invited.

FROM THE CHANCELLOR -- Earlier this fall, the School of Business and the Carolina Piedmont Foundation decided to begin a jointly sponsored lecture series which would provide a business and economic outlook for the community each January. With the approval of the Tukey family, the series has been named in honor of the late Richard E. Tukey, who was a member of the Foundation Board and a strong supporter of USCS through the years.

We will be very fortunate this year to have Arnold B. Barach in Spartanburg this January. He is the editor of special projects for the Kipplinger Washington letters, and is one of the top economic forecasters in the nation. Mr. Barach has agreed to deliver the first annual Tukey Lecture while he is in the city. The program will be held on Wednesday, January 14, in the Tukey Lecture Theatre.

We realize that this particular evening comes at a hectic time for faculty and students, but it seemed that the opportunity to have Mr. Barach on our campus to begin the lecture series made up for the disadvantages. I hope that many of the faculty and staff will attend the program, and that members of the university community will contact friends and students who may not have heard of this special opportunity to begin the spring semester with a stimulating program.

POSITION AVAILABLE: Clerk, Ceta Position. Perform routine or standardized duties involving typing, filing, xeroxing and researching information. For more information about this position contact the USCS Personnel Office. Application deadline is Jan. 23, 1981.

FACULTY and STAFF are reminded that the deadline for getting an article published in FYI is each week on Thursday at 5:00 p.m. Articles received by Thursday will appear in the following Monday's edition. Material should be submitted in writing to Janella Koob, Information Services.

II. BULLETIN BOARD

A. Campus

FROM VALERIE BURNIE: Faye Henderson, librarian at Spartanburg General Hospital, has extended the service of computer searches, on a trial basis, to USCS faculty members. The resources include DIALOG which covers a wide range of disciplines; most files cost between $45 and $90 per hour to use, and most searches take between 10 and 15 minutes. Because of the heavy workload in serving her own clientele, Faye must have at least a weeks notice before a search is needed, and searches cannot be done for students. Her phone number is 573-6220.

MR. GEORGE KHOURI, manager of the Spartanburg Holiday Inn, was the winner of a pair of Gator Bowl tickets in a drawing sponsored by the Rifle Regiment. The drawing was held for Rifle Regiment members and advertisers in the 1980-81 Sports Yearbook.

VI. Addendum

ON JANUARY 29, the Admissions Office will host a program to honor the thirty semi-finalists in the Piedmont Scholar competition. This year we included all the counties in our region and actively promoted the scholarships in all schools. Students were asked to complete a scholarship application and forward a high school transcript and SAT scores to our office. The selection procedure was based on academic ability, student activities and community involvement.

When the students and their parents arrive on campus on the evening of the 29th, they will be greeted by Dr. Sansbury, Dr. Eaglin and Dr. Davis. The counselors will also give a short presentation on Choosing a Career. The semifinalists and their parents will then be escorted to the academic school of their choice to meet with faculty and selected students. We will conclude the evening with a reception in the Activities Building.

The Piedmont Scholar program is an excellen opportunity for USCS to attract students with strong academic backgrounds to our campus. We are very pleased with this year's strong response, and feel that it justifies increasing the number of these scholarships we can award in years to come.

The Admissions Office would welcome any suggestions or involvement that might improve the program.

Subject: COORDINATING COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

The past few years have brought great changes in the variety and complexity of USCS' activities in and for the Greenville-Spartanburg community. Thanks to the many hours devoted to these programs by the faculty and staff, the upstate has responded to these efforts in a very positive fashion. During the past several weeks, however, a number of unfortunate happenings illustrated that some of these activities are not being properly coordinated. In one instance, incorrect information was furnished by an unauthorized individual to a community publication, and on other occasions, persons have engaged in uncoordinated fund raising efforts in competition and conflict with approved projects. Such efforts are frankly counter-productive and have the potential for creating serious embarrassment.

Therefore, I want to restate briefly our existing policies which relate to this problem: (1) no faculty or staff member should approach anyone in the community for contributions to USCS without coordinating this activity with the Associate Chancellor for University Relations; (2) before any contact with any news media outlet (or any informational publication) is made, it is necessary to contact the Director for Information Services (or Sports Information Director, if appropriate); and (3) any campus event that will be open to the public must be placed on the official USCS Cultural Affairs Calendar, which is maintained by Cecilia McDaniel Brown.

Experience has shown that most of our faculty and staff understand these policies and the reasoning behind them. We certainly have no intention of limiting freedom of speech or action, and in fact encourage participation by faculty and staff in community cultural activities, development, fund raising and public relations. However, it is important that we present ourselves to the community as a campus which has an organized, professional approach toward these types of programs.

A. CAMPUS

A PLAY ENTITLED BAYOU RELICS, written by Dr. Elizabeth Brown, will be produced at the Arts Center on March 13, 14, and 15. Bayou Relics presents characters in a nursing home, sharing their feelings about each other, the management, their children, their sexuality, and their mental and emotional conditions. It is a play in which comedy and pathos come together. Some of the characters complain about their misfortunes, but we see through their with the "I'm not ready to give up" attitude. These characters are full of life, contrary to popular belief about nursing home patients. They want what all (youthful) people want: to love and to be loved. For more information about the performances, please contact Dr. Elizabeth Brown.

SEVERAL PERSONS have inquired about contributions in memory of Roy Shelton (Betty Stavely's father). Contributions may be made in the University Relations office. Checks should be made payable to the Carolina Piedmont Foundation.

FROM DOYLE BOGGS, Director for Information Services. The Dean's List for the USC system which is now appearing in various newspapers in the area is not the official USCS Dean's List. This list is a computer printout released by the Information Services Office on the Columbia campus. It habitually contains wholesale errors because no opportunity is given the USCS Records Office to check it before it is released. USCS students should assume they are on the Dean's List if they have an official grade report showing they meet the criteria established on page 34 of the catalog.

This program will begin Feb. 16 and will cost $5.00 per participant and is limited to 100 participants. To join or for further information call Bruce Wilson or the Student Affairs office, ext. 336. Please make this announcement to your classes.

ENGLISH POET, critic, and editor, Stephen Spender, a friend of poet W.H. Auden and a leading intellectual of this century, is serving as USC's Dag Hammarskjold Professor during this spring semester. B. INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION NEWS

FASCHING PARTY: Fasching is a German celebration comparable to the French Mardi Gras --usually a costume celebration before the beginning of Lent. Fasching has been brough to Spartanburg by the German Community, wit an annual Fasching Party open to the public sponsored by the German-American Club. This year's party (costumes optional) will be February 14, 8 p.m., at the Knights of Columbus Lodge, Highway 176 south. The Jerr Goodman Band will provide the music. Cost is $13 per person, and tickets are available from Geiss & Sons Jewelry, Ankies, and Still-Newton's westside office. For further information contact Jim Brown, L-236, ext. 433.

INTERNATIONAL BRIEFS: For those who believe the Third World is very distant from U.S. concerns: Birds play an important role in controlling insect pests in American forests and croplands. Most species of Eastern U.S. birds, including song birds, migrate each winter to the tropical forests of Central and South America and the islands of the Caribbean. They return with the seasonal appearance of forest and grassland insects, But the birds' habitat in the tropical forests is being destroyed at an acceleratin rate as population pressures and resource scarcity in developing countries increase. Populations of almost all migrating bird species are smaller than a decade ago, and substantial declines are expected by the end of the century. As bird populations decline, insect pests could take an increasing toll on U.S. crops and forests.

As Resident Tutor at the University of the West Indies at St. Lucia (1962-63), his duties included theatre producer for the St. Lucia Arts Festival (1963) and radio producer and broadcaster for the Windward Islands Broadcasting Service. Mr. Brathwaite has served as Lecturer (1963-72), Senior Lecturer (1972-76) and Reader (1976 to present) at the University of the West Indies at Kingston, Jamaica.

Mr. Brathwaite's research has received support from a University of the West Indies/University of Sussex Research Fellowship (1965-68); a Ford Foundation Research Grant (1969); City of Nairobi, Kenya, Fellowship (1971); and a Guggenheim Fellowship (1972-73).

Mr. Brathwaite has served as a Visiting Professor in Creative Writing and Caribbean Studies at Boston University (1975-76) and at the University of Southern Illinois at Carbondale (1970). Recently, Mr. Brathwaite served on the UNESCO Commission for the 1980 edition of UNESCO's History of Man.

Mr. Brathwaite has authored numerous books, pamphlets, articles and reviews in History, Caribbean culture and studies, creative literature as well as bibliographies and bibliographical studies. He has delivered conference papers on various topics including cultural diversity and national understanding in the West Indies, oral history in the Caribbean, creolization, and Black poetry of the Americas. Recordings include his triology: Rights of Passage (London, 1967), Masks (Argo-Decca, London, 1972) and Islands (Argo-Decca, London, 1973). Mr. Brathwaite serves as editor or on the board of journals in the U.S., Nigeria and in the West Indies. He also serves in an advisory capacity to the Barbados Yoruba Foundation, to the Inter-American Foundation and to the government of Barbados.

An international citizen, Mr. Brathwaite has conducted lectures, seminars in history, literature, socio-culture throughout the West Indies, and in the USA, United Kingdom, Nigeria, Kenya, Holland, Cuba, Haiti, Guyana and Gaudeloupe. Topics have included Poetry of the Americas, Slavery in the Americas, Creolization, and Slave Trade from Africa.

"A sophisticated tough intelligence saturates the archetypal material. His technique dazzles, and through the handling of rhythm and image he makes the world his own, and ours..." So says The Sunday Times, critiquing the work of Edward Kamau Brathwaite, poet, scholar, and internationally known lecturer on history, literature, and socio-culture. Dr. Brathwaite will visit the USCS campus on February 24 and 25, as part of the on-going series of "Sunbelt/International Symposia."

Brathwaite, who earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Cambridge University in 1953, and his Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Sussex in 1968, will explore the topic, "The Creative Caribbean and the Sunbelt," during his stay here. On Tuesday, February 24, at 7:30 PM, Dr. Brathwaite will participate as the leading speaker on a forum which will include several members of the USCS faculty and the surrounding community. In discussing the topic Brathwaite notes, "The term 'Caribbean' refers both to the personality and the geographical area." The theory which underlines Dr. Brathwaite's lecture is that personality derives from the environment. Dr. Brathwaite's comments will be discussed in detail by the panel and questions from the audience will be considered. This lecture/symposium is open to the general public as well as the USCS community.

On Wednesday, February 25, at 12:30 PM, Edward Brathwaite will read from his own works. This presentation should be a much interest to students in the area of literature, history, and sociology, as well as the other liberal arts. Faculty are encouraged to schedule their students for participation in these events.

Both presentations will take place in Tukey Auditorium and are free to the public. This program is funded in part by a grant from the South Carolina Committee on the Humanities.

Materials pertinent to the presentations are on reserve in the library. A tape recording of the Brathwaite album, "Rights of Passage," and a copy of the book, Contradictory Omens, are available on three-day reserve. The tape can also be listened to in the library, upstairs in the A/V Center. Commenting on the aural quality of the poetry, Peter Orr says, "'Rights of Passage'... is a poem which needs to be heard for its fullest effect." Orr has written the liner notes to the album, made in England by Argo Records, and he concludes his comments with, "This has been an exciting record to make and presents a piece of writing, conceived on a large scale, which I believe to be important, not only in a contemporary context, but in that greater area where literature and history combine to present us with matters of essential significance."

Students and faculty alike are encouraged to prepare themselves for the visit of Dr. Brathwaite by spending some time with his work. His presentations promise to be provocative, challenging, and intellectually exciting.

Ticket prices are $3 for students and adults, and tickets will go on sale Monday in the Student Affairs Office. This is the third straight year for the men's basketball team to participate in the district playoffs, and special credit goes to L. A. Hill, Bill Weathers, and Brack Horne, senior members of that team. The Rifles took a 17-11 record into Saturday night's regular season finale at Francis Marion.

COACH ANDREA MORRISON'S Lady Rifles scored a major upset Thursday night, knocking off Columbia College 51-49 on the Koala's home court. REQUEST FROM THE FACILITIES UTILIZATION AND PLANNING COMMITTEE: It is hoped that the proposed Arts and Sciences Building will clear all legislative and executive hurdles this year. Completion of this building will take approximately three years from the date of its final approval. However, in order to assure adequate funding for the remodeling of the facilities which will be vacated by the Arts and Sciences faculty when they move to their new building, the Facilities Utilization and Planning Committee must begin to draft a remodeling plan. If you have any suggestions regarding the use of areas currently used by the School of Arts and Sciences please submit them to Gordon Mapley, chair of the FUP Committee.

Additionally, within the next two weeks, Dr. Sansbury will be appointing five faculty (one from each faculty "voting unit" not currently represented on the FUP Committee) to serve with the existing FUP Committee to draft plans for the remodeling noted. Volunteers for this ad hoc committee would be appreciated.

SUNBELT/INTERNATIONAL SYMPOSIUM

"de Tocqueville Revisited"

Monday, March 16, 1981
Tukey Theatre, USCS Campus

The Fourth and culminating Symposium in the Sunbelt/International Series is entitled 'de Tocqueville Revisited." The Symposium will focus on the writings of Alexis de Tocqueville. A French nobleman, de Tocqueville toured the United States in 1831-1832. He came to America to examine democracy at work in America, the country he considered most democratic. He interviewed Americans in all walks of life from President Andrew Jackson to Black slaves. Based on these interviews and his observations, de Tocqueville made various predictions about the future of democracy, relations between the North and South, blacks in America, etc.

This Symposium is designed as a "colloquery", a unique approach in this series. Dr. Maxwell Goldberg, our guest lecturer, will lead us in this venture. Dr. Goldberg is a prize winning graduate of the Boston Latin School (1923) and a summa cum laude graduate of the University of Massachusetts (B.S. Biology, Rural Education; 1928). Later he earned the M.A. (1932) and the Ph.D. (1933) from the Yale University Graduate School.

After service to the University of Massachusetts as head of the English Department and in many other capacities, Dr. Goldberg was named "Emeritus Commonwealth Professor of Humanities" (1955) by the Board of Trustees of the University. A Goldberg section in the University Archives has also been established. Having served as Professor of English and Humanities and Associate Director for Continuing Liberal Education at Pennsylvania State University, he was named to his second emeritus professorship (1972). In the same year Converse College, Spartanburg, called Dr. Goldberg to the newly established Andrew J.R. Helmus Distinguished Professorship in Humanities and Literature. Upon retirement, the Converse Board of Turstees voted that Dr. Goldberg hold that title prefixed by "Emeritus" for life.

While residing in Spartanburg, Dr. Goldberg has directed the Converse College Committee for the Humanities-South Carolina Committee for the Humanities Project, "Greater Spartanburg in Transition," and the Bicentennial Community Forums on Greater Spartanburg, "Horizons Unlimited." For the latter, he received a Governor's citation.

Dr. Goldberg has been internationally recognized for numerous accomplishments. Among these is his listing in the International Directory of Scholars and several other biographic compilations.

A Renaissance Man of the first order, Dr. Goldberg will direct this colloquery, guiding us through explored and unexplored terrain of history, past and present.

Alice Henderson, moderator of the panel, joins a distinguished group of citizens. Panelists include foreign-born personalities now residing in Spartanburg: Dr. Paul Forester (Executive Vice President for Operations, Hoechst Fibers Industries), Dr. Hans H. Kuhn (Honorary Consul of Switzerland and Department Manager at Deering Milliken Research Corporation), Bryan Lyttle (President, Bryan Lyttle, Inc.), and Dr. Regis Robe (Assistant Professor of French, USCS). Rick Walker (Instructor in Sociology, USCS) rounds out the panel.

Developing nations that have imported Japanese detection technology have made significant progress in reading their cancer mortality rates.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION OFFICER - The Chancellor's Administrative Assistant has been serving as the USCS Affirmative Action Officer for the past several years. While the USCS record in affirmative action has been good, in view of the State's expanded commitment, the decision has been made to assign this responsibility to some other appropriate faculty or staff member on a parttime basis. This person should be sensitive to the goals of a positive affirmative action program and aware of the problems in achieving meaningful progress towards those goals. The current duties of the person selected should be such that appropriate arrangements can be made to provide adequate release time for effective accomplishment of affirmative action responsibilities. These responsibilities will include making recommendations to the Chancellor for constructive modification of existing affirmative action policies and procedures, for updating of affirmative action goals, and for the development of programs to attain these goals. The Affirmative Action Officer will monitor all such programs, including employment procedures, and will work with the appropriate faculty and university committees in this area. Adequate clerical and staff support will be provided. This appointment will be for a five-year term. Letters of application should be submitted to the office of the Chancellor by April 20. "BERNE, SWITZERLAND, A Medieval City Today," will be the topic of a slide-lecture presentation at USCS on Wednesday, April 22, in Tukey Lecture Theatre, at 12:30 p.m. and again at 7:30 p.m. The lecture will be presented by Professor Erdmann Schmocker, an architect-planner at the Illinois Institute of Technology. Berne was founded in approximately 1160 A.D., and is an example of early, medieval city planning. Life styles, the functions of the city, and the world have changed greatly since the Middle Ages, but Berne still shows, more than most cities, its links to the past. Schmocker is the author of the new book Old Berne--New Berne, A City Image Through History, a pioneering urban study. The lectures should be of interest to a variety of students, especially those in history and art history, and sociology. Please announce to classes. The lectures will open an exhibit on Berne in the USCS Library, which will run through May 15.

USC-SUMTER is celebrating its second annual Renaissance Week from April 22 through May 1. BECAUSE OF THE ABSENCE of Jan Caldwell, Word Processing services will be limited during the week of April 20-24. No interruption of first priority academic support to the faculty is anticipated, but it will be difficult if not impossible to provide non-academic quick printing services during that week. Departments are urged to note this announcement and plan their printing schedules accordingly.

Accompanying the committee will be Dr. Jack Allen of the SACS office in Atlanta.

With respect to the committee's visit, may I make these two requests of you:

(1) Please plan to be "on hand" and available for consultation with committee members on Monday, April 27, 8:30-4:00, and on Tuesday, April 28, 8:30-2:00. Specific appointments for committee members to meet with particular persons on campus will be handled by Toni McKissick in the Chancellor's office. In addition, according to the committee chair, Dr. Mamdanis, the committee members will generally be circulating around campus to talk--with administration, faculty and staff members and with students.

(2) Be sure that the syllabi for courses which you teach, kept on file in the Deans' offices, are complete and up-to-date. The Evaluation Committee members will be looking at these, and they will also be interested in seeing copies of examinations which you give and other materials you use in your courses, if you'll be so good as to place some examples of these in the files.

For additional information, contact Jim Brown, L-236, ext. 433. Venezuela plays a leading role in the economy of Central American and the Caribbean Basin and is vying with Cuba to become a predominant force in the region. The country has given billions of dollars in project loans and foreign aid in an attempt to promote stability and democracy in the area. However, with the highest per capita GNP in South America, Venezuela is still having difficulty in distributing its oil money in a manner which benefits the 30% of the population still living in poverty.

According to the Population Action Council, half of the world's population will live in cities by the year 2000.

ASSISTANT PROFESSOR EMERITUS Jim Sloan was on campus Saturday, April 11, attending the Annual Conference of the S.C. Political Science Association. As a retired professor, Jim is an honorary member of the association. You may recall that Jim underwent serious colon cancer surgery last May 30. He sent his best regards to all of his colleagues, expressing sincere appreciation for their many expressions of concern-flowers, cards and letters, visits, phone calls, and their prayers. Jim seems to have snapped back admirably since his indisposure. Last November, as chairman of the Laurens County Election Commission, he presided over the election manager training session and conducted the General Election. In December, Jim and Alice, spent four days at The Princess in Bermuda. He attends the quarterly meetings of the Board of Trustees of the John de la Howe School, serving as the Board's secretary. In recent months he has prepared more than 15 articles for the History of Laurens County, now being compiled. He teaches the Men's Bible Class each Sunday at Clinton's Associate Reformed Presbyterian church. On Friday, April 17, Jim and Alice left on British Airways from Dulles Airport for a three-week trip to England and Scotland (mostly Scotland, he says) to study his and his church's roots around Edinburgh, Sterling, Perth, Kinross and Dunfermline. The Sloans will return on the Queen Elizabeth II. Jim's quarterly check-ups by Charleston doctors afford time for crabbing at Breach Inlet, one of Jim's hobbies, along with traveling, boiling peanuts, playing Roy Acuff records, and reading historical books, especially biographies. Of course his and Alice's happiest moments are spent entertaining their pride and joy, their 20-month-old grandson, James Park Sloan IV, Edwin's boy. It comes as no surprise that the Sloans' Olds 98 car tag reads "JPS-IV."

DR. JOHN EDMUNDS, professor of history, was elected president of the South Carolina Historical Society at its annual meeting in Charleston recently. Dr. Edmunds is also the author of a profile of Spartanburg which appeared in the publication "Faces of South Carolina."

DR. MIRIAM SHELDEN, associate professor of physical education, has been named to represent women's athletic programs in five Southern states on the National Executive Board of the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW).

The 1982-83 competition has recently been announced. Approximately 516 awards to 50 countries will be available. Applicants must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, who will generally hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent before the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, will be proficient in the language of the host country. We have also contacted the National Merit Semi-finalists and National Achievement Scholarship Program for Outstanding Negro Students Semi-finalists in our recruiting area. In April over 125 high school students and counselors attended a Computer Science workshop sponsored jointly by Dr. Andy Crosland and the Admissions Office. An information display was set up at the area malls during December and April yielding very positive results from the communities involved.

The continued goal of the Admissions Office is not only to increase our student body but to improve the quality of entering students as well. The continued support from faculty and staff will be needed if we are to accomplish this goal. We certainly appreciate the assistance that has been given to our recruiting effort this year and as we begin to plan for this fall's schedule if anyone has any suggestions that might improve our program please feel free to contact the Admissions Office.

FYI IS CHANGING

Beginning with the September issues, FYI tentatively will become USCS--This Week, with a streamlined new look. Information Services plans to keep what is good about the current publication-- such as free access to all faculty and staff, but at the same time we want to take this opportunity to make changes that will make the newsletter more widely read. Please take a moment to answer the questions below and return to Information Services, or give feedback to Doyle Boggs (ext. 210).

I. Is FYI widely read in your office or division/school? If not, what could be done to encourage faculty and staff to read USCS--This Week? What could be done to encourage faculty to pass appropriate information along to students?

It is read when it comes - frequently we don't get copies

II. Considering the adverse budget situation that now exists, do you think the faculty/staff newsletter should be eliminated, made bi-weekly, reduced in size, or left as it is? & cut out practices - such as the business office mailing out your offerings to everyone on campus (put that in FYI) & sending validation stickers to everyone

III. If USCS--This Week should be limited to one page, front and back, what features could be eliminated? Sections of the newsletter now are "Official Announcements," "Bulletin Board" (includes campus events), "International News," "Faculty/Staff Notes," "Community Interest," and the calendar page.

Wouldn't be any need of it

IV. Currently, FYI deadlines are 5:00 p.m. on the Thursday preceding Monday distribution. In order to provide time for more careful editing and proofreading, it might be desirable to move this deadline to 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding Monday distribution. Would you have strong objections to this step? Would a distribution date other than Monday morning be preferable?

V. Please feel free to use this space for other suggestions.
